McAdoo on Way to New York to Take Advisory Charge of His Forces for Convention

BOOM WALSH FOR CHAIRMAN

Delegates Favor Sen. Thos. Walsh of Montana as Permanent Chairman

Houston Presidential Boom Launched—Ex-Gov. Cox Opens Headquarters

NEW YORK, June 18.—The campaign of William G. McAdoo for the democratic nomination for president, enters on its final phase on his arrival from Los Angeles today to take advisory charge of his forces.

He has engaged the suite at the Hotel Vanderbilt, formerly occupied by Eugene C. McCarthy, and there will take place the conference with his campaign managers that will do much to determine his success in the forthcoming battle.

Senator Walsh for Chairman

National committee members and delegates already in town are displaying a decided sentiment in favor of Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, leader in the oil lease investigation as permanent chairman of the convention. It is generally agreed that inasmuch as the oil lease controversy is virtually certain to be one of the chief issues for the campaign it would be a wise move to capitalize the Montana senator's nationally known connection with the investigations. There is also the feeling that it behooves the party to show Senator Walsh some appreciation for his efforts.

Although this favoring sentiment makes Senator Walsh's selection highly probable, his choice has yet to be ratified by the full national committee. Members of the democratic national committee let it be known last night that Senator Walsh's selection was virtually certain to be chosen chairman of the committee on resolutions unless unexpected opposition developed.

In the camp of both Mr. McAdoo and Gov. Smith, however, is expressed as to the result of the fight which may be provoked by the proposal to do away with the traditional two-thirds rule.

SCHOOL RIVALS MEET IN LAWRENCE

The Lowell and Lawrence high school baseball teams crossed bats at O'Sullivan park, Lawrence, this afternoon in the opening game for the inter-city high school championship. In the first encounter Lowell was victorious by a 6 to 3 score, while Lawrence took the second game, 5 to 6.

The opposing pitchers today were Ralph Hewitt for Lawrence, and Harry Allen for Lowell. Hewitt has won one and lost one against the Red and Gray this season, while Allen was the loser in the Alumni field contest about two weeks ago. "Mike" Gibbons twirled Lowell to its first victory over the down-river men early in the season. He suffered a broken ankle some time ago and has been on the retired list since.

BOULEVARD TO BE PATROLLED

Because of the increasing number of fatal and near-fatal automobile accidents on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, Supt. Atkinson intimated this morning that he is considering a plan to place a motorcycle officer on regular duty there during certain hours of the night. At present there are two motorcycle officers assigned to night duty. One of them patrols the Lowell-Lawrence highway at regular intervals, and it is the superintendent's idea to establish the same routine in First street.

25TH ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

163 Young Women Receive Diplomas at Exercises Held in School Assembly Hall

Principal Address Given by Miss McKimmon of Pierce School, Brookline

One of the largest classes in the history of the Lowell State Normal school was graduated this afternoon at commencement exercises held in the assembly hall of the school which was filled to capacity by relatives and acquaintances of the 163 young women graduates.

Incidentally, this was the 25th annual commencement of the school and several members of the class of '99, the first class to be graduated from Lowell Normal attended the exercises. The assembly hall was prettily arranged with flowers and palms while the stage was decorated with palms and greenery, making a beautiful background for the school orchestra and glee club.

The opening number, "Hungarian Dance No. VI," by Brahms, played by the orchestra, and to which the students sang was decorated with palms and greenery, making a beautiful background for the school orchestra and glee club.

The chorus, "Lovely Spring," by Coenen, given by the students, proved an excellent number in which the voices of the participants were beautifully blended.

Miss Mary McKimmon, principal of Pierce school, Brookline, gave a stirring address on "Teaching Ideals to Youth in a Democracy." Miss McKimmon spoke of the ideals so necessary to youth and the teaching of these ideals to the children of today who tomorrow will be the citizens of the nation.

DEATH CLAIMS NOTED DRAMATIC STAR IN MILTON NOBLES

Famous Actor and Playwright, Well Known Here Through His Appearances in Old Music Hall, Succumbs to Stroke of Apoplexy in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Forty-nine years ago, a popular American actor and playwright, featuring plays of the blood-and-thunder type and starring in his own dramatizations with marked success, arranged for the "one-night-only" appearance at Lowell's historic Music Hall on Dutton street, of a highly melodramatic production, flamboyantly hand-billed "The Phoenix."

This was the colorful, thrillingly impressive dramatic play wherein occurred the famous thespian line: "And the villain still pursued her." It is a phrase still used in popular jargon of the present day.

Yesterday, in a quiet, modern apartment house at 123 First place, Brooklyn, simple funeral services were conducted over the remains of Milton Nobles, 76 years old, professional actor and playwright since 1867, who appeared in Lowell in the early '70s at old Music Hall.

His best theatrical offering was his own production of "The Phoenix," in which the famous character line about "the villain" appeared. Theatregoers of the ante-bellum days of Lowell and Middlesex county, who still reside in this vicinity, will remember, undoubtedly, the advent to Music Hall of Nobles and "The Phoenix."

Old-time Lowell musicians, who used to play in local amusement places half a century ago, can tell stories about Milton Nobles and the "blood-and-thunder." Red-hot, blistering drama of the heroic mould and type was the money-getter just after the Civil war. Nobles, actor and playwright, catered to popular demand with thrilling plays and sacro-cosmic dramatizations of blood-curdling tales that could always be depended upon to pack the houses on the New England one-night-stand circuit, filling the coffers of Milton Nobles.

For the latest novelties from London do not feature innocent pink roses or blue bow knots, but build a whole sunshade on the general plan of birds, lilies or cats, and they are composed of feathers and fur in order to get a more perfect likeness.

The eyes of the cat in one of the sunshades photographed are of glass, painted to copy as nearly as possible the steaky eye of Tabby herself, and give a most sinister effect. The lily model is carried out in spotless cream.

NO SEEDS SPELL DOOM OF SCHOOL GARDENS

Because the United States government has decided no longer to subsidize the smaller gardener of the nation at large by mailing him fat packets of free vegetable seeds every spring at the request of fence-building senators and congressmen, Lowell's famous "school gardens" are in jeopardy. Probably after this year's planting, cultivating and harvesting—if there is anything to harvest after this late spring frost start—there will be no more truly "heavenly gardens" here, there and elsewhere throughout the city in the locations long used by school children well trained in tilling the soil.

At the present time, there are thousands of plots blooming in the city attributable to children of kindergartens and grammar school age. Miss Alice T. Lee has been supervisor of school gardens in Lowell for several years and has received the cordial assistance and co-operation of Congresswoman John Jacob Rogers in large measure, always. She also acknowledges with pleasure and gratitude the great help from Mr. R. Rowlands, president of the Allen Seed Company, Sheboygan, Wis., whom she met in this city last year and who later sent 100 pounds each of seed peas and beans for school garden distributions.

The largest of the garden clubs exist at the Lyman, Washington, Pawtucket and Greenleaf schools. The Middlesex North Agricultural society has always taken warm interest in the clubs. Children caring for home gardens had exhibits in the county fair held in this city.

Dr. Charles M. Roughan addressed the members of the Higginson Home Economics classes at 10 o'clock this morning on the subject, "Tonsils."

Dr. Roughan described the tonsils, the important part they play in the human system and in conclusion told of the diseases of the tonsils and their effects on other parts of the body.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR
A. O. H. GATHERING

One of the biggest get-togethers in Middlesex county, A. O. H. affairs, in years is being planned for the Sunday of the month, when practically every division in the county, with the members of their families and their friends, will assemble at the Working Boys' home in Newton Highlands for a grand reunion. Brother Eshion, a former Lowell boy is extending every courtesy to the committee in charge of the gala event and everything points to a glorious time. Among the honored guests will be Mayor Curley and Mayor Quinn of Boston and Cambridge, respectively, and His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connell.

The president of all divisions in the county held an enthusiastic meeting in Waltham last Sunday and formulated elaborate plans for the affair. Next Sunday afternoon, in the A. O. H. headquarters, Grosvenor building, here, there will be a special meeting of all members of the local divisions and the ladies auxiliary. Final plans will be made at this meeting.

Let's Tune in For Swimming

When no one is around to scoff, and you long to show your talents at the beaches this summer, tune in for a radio swimming lesson. Several such have already been given throughout the country. Miss Ruth Dace of Chicago, shown above, believes in them to the point of assuming the realistic, but for the water.

HAS OWN IDEAS OF Simple Regenerative Receiver With Honeycomb Coils WIRELESS

By N.E.A. Service

KENOSHA, Wis., June 17.—Out of the world of radio amateurs comes one rather obscure "ham" with a theory of his own, an invention of hope and a claim of highest expectations.

The amateur—Mark Kindt of this city.

The theory—that radio, a form of magnetism in itself, travels across space through the aid of the earth's magnetism.

The invention—a four-tube receiver for which Kindt claims remarkable results and advantages.

The claim made by his friends, mostly that he is well on the way to become another Charles P. Steinmetz, another radio wizard.

Look at it

Kindt with Anthony Winther has been working on radio for the last four years. In a little shack on the west side of the city, he is working on his new set. He has already applied for patents on it.

WIZARD!

MARK KINDT, OF KENOSHA, WIS., IS HAILED AS A RADIO WIZARD FOR HIS INVENTION AND "MAGNETIC THEORY" OF RADIO.

According to Kindt the receiver can dispense with antenna or ground for a receiving distance of 20 miles. It can receive as far as 100 miles with ground connection only. It can get from 1200 to 1500 miles on a loop and from coast to coast on an outside aerial.

No squealing, clear signals, high selectivity, low battery consumption: A boon for radio listeners. That's the claim made by Kindt and Winther.

"Ridiculous," he says.

The theory is more remarkable. "Radio has been supposed to travel through a medium called ether, regardless of the fact that the necessary properties of such an imaginary medium make it ridiculous," explains Kindt. "For instance, ether is supposed to have tension, thus the rigidity of the hardest known solid steel, and at the same time must permit material objects to pass through it without resistance."

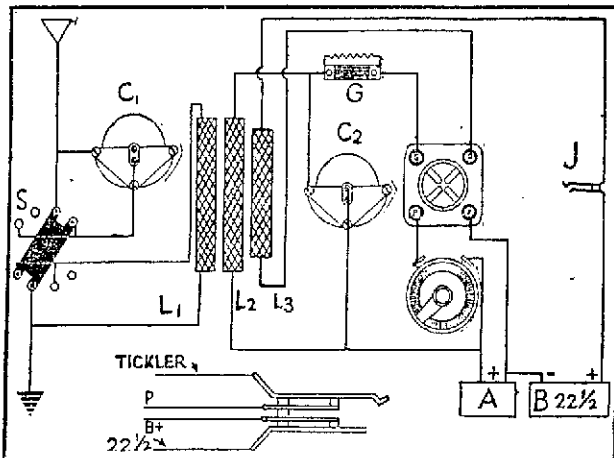

So Kindt says that idea and has evolved the theory of magnetism for radio. He has come to this conclusion after years of testing. Just as the magnet affects the compass, he believes, iron or steel affects radio waves.

"It is a known fact in electrical science," Kindt goes on to explain, "that a current passing through a wire sets up a magnetic field surrounding that wire. The magnetic theory says that the rapidly oscillating magnetism spreading from the transmitting aerial produces in the earth's magnetism distortions exactly corresponding in form to the currents sent into the aerial by the transmitting apparatus. These distortions radiate into space at the speed of light."

"It is also generally known that when a magnetic field is caused to vary around a conductor, an electric current is set up in that conductor. Therefore," says the new theory, "when these magnetic distortions pass through your receiver aerial, they set up in your aerial minute currents exactly corresponding to those sent into the transmitting aerial."

"This at once explains such phenomena as 'induced' dead spots' and particularly dead spots which an efficient aerial never results. Thousands of times in excess of those obtained with small loops."

"The more of the earth's magnetism that you intercept with your aerial, the stronger the signal becomes, and the longer the distance you receive."

HOOK UP DIAGRAM OF THE THREE-COIL RECEIVER WITH DETAILED DIAGRAM SHOWING CONNECTIONS TO CLOSED CIRCUIT JACK FOR AUDIO AMPLIFIER.

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

N.E.A. Service Radio Editor

For high range of reception, greater selectivity in tuning and simplicity of construction, try the three-coil regenerative set.

It is just a simple three-coil tuner that doesn't bother your neighbors and is one of the simplest sets to put up. At the same time, with two stages of audio amplification added, it should bring in stations from 500 to 1000 miles, or even more.

The receiver consists of the following parts:

- One three-coil mounting block.
- One 75-turn honeycomb coil for the primary.
- One 15-turn coil for the secondary.
- One 60-turn coil for the tickler.
- One variable condenser, .001 mfd., 42 plates.
- One 25-plate variable condenser, .0005 mfd.
- One series-parallel switch and points.
- One vacuum tube socket.
- One 6-ohm rheostat.
- One grid condenser and leak.
- One single circuit jack.
- A double circuit jack is necessary if the addition of an amplified unit is planned.
- The 42-plate condenser is connected in the aerial circuit and is controlled by the series-parallel switch.
- The other condenser is shunted across the secondary coil.
- Otherwise the hook-up is as simple

TUTANKHAMEN'S TOMB

Percy White, Noted Egyptologist, Lectures Twice in Lowell Today

Percy White, the distinguished Egyptologist and life-long friend and associate of Howard Carter, gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on "The Discovery of the Tomb of King Tutankhamen," in the Memorial Auditorium this afternoon. The lecture was greatly enhanced by slides and motion pictures of the Egyptian monarch, his tomb and the relics discovered, together with views of the excavation activities in the Valley of the Kings. The program will be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds of the lectures will be given to the Lowell Guild for the furtherance of its work locally. Mr. White, who is a noted author and authority on Egypt and its antiquities, has been for years a member of the faculty of the Egyptian University at Cairo in a most entertaining speaker and his explanation of the numerous scenes of the tomb and its relics, and Egyptian customs 3000 years ago, is one which all should hear. A noted journalist and author, Mr. White was for ten years editor of "Public Opinion." During the war he was a Lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve and owing to his familiarity with Egypt and the east, was made interpreter of the Royal Naval Air Service in the Eastern Mediterranean. Mr. White is a brilliant writer as well as an able speaker and those attending the lecture this evening will be royally entertained.

Charged With Manslaughter

crashed on the Lowell Lawrence boulevard. The three-year old boy was asleep in his mother's lap and was thrown from the machine by the impact of the cars. He was rushed to St. John's hospital by Michael McNamara of 52 Franklin street, who witnessed the collision.

The accident occurred shortly after 3:30 o'clock, at the entrance to the boulevard. The Maynard car was proceeding in the direction of Lowell and traveling, according to the driver, at a rate of about 15 miles per hour. Mr. Maynard told the police he saw the Essex approaching on the left side of the road and turned sharply off the cement highway in an attempt to avoid being hit. The left side of the Essex struck the left side of the Ford, however, he said, and then swerved to the other side of the road, coming to a stop several feet away.

With MacKenzie at the time were Paul Garrison and Norman Logan. None of them could be located immediately after the accident, but Motorcycle Officer Walter L. Kivlan found MacKenzie in Bridge street, some time later. Garrison and Logan were apprehended shortly after and all three were treated at headquarters for minor cuts and bruises about the head and face. Garrison and Logan were allowed to go after being questioned. They said the Essex car was the property of Yvonne LePage of Braintree, who had given them permission to borrow it for a ride.

The police officers who investigated the case, besides Motorcycle Officer Kivlan, were Lieut. Patrick Frawley, Arthur Drowell, Edward Hayes and Edward Eiston.

CITY COUNCIL SESSION

Short Meeting Last Night
Transacts Only Routine
Business Matters

With the tardiness which is becoming customary the city council last night convened at 8.30 o'clock, adjourning 50 minutes later after disposing of a fair volume of routine business. The meeting might well be taken for a small-sized reproduction of a session of the great and general court of Massachusetts on "Town Meeting day," when all the representatives are generally at work in their respective home hamlets.

Only eight councilors besides the presiding officer, President Gallagher, answered their names when the roll was called. Later all arrived with the exception of Messrs. McAdams and Chadwick. Few took their seats, many sitting on the sidelines with constituents while the routine business was disposed of. No nominations were acted upon by the body, although Fisher Pearson, member of the board of health, and Charles J. Landers, nominated to succeed him, were both doing active missionary work in the hallways and ante-rooms.

Several councilors left before the close of the 50-minute session. City Clerk Flynn at the end barely receiving the eight years needed to give a majority on various orders up for passage. Hearing dates on new petitions were granted, same to be held on July 1 and July 15.

Petitioners for a franchise to operate a motor bus route from this city to Pelham, N. H., were given leave to withdraw at their own request. The petition of Lindsey E. Ingalls, for 36 years a patrolman, for retirement with pension from the police department, was referred to the department head concerned for remark and recommendation.

An order introduced by Mr. Chadwick and providing $18,000 for acquisition of land adjacent to Lincoln school for playground purposes, met unanimous approval among the eight councilors voting. The order for a sewer in Colonial avenue passed its second reading.

Representatives of public utilities corporations appearing for their respective concerns relative to pole locations met more remonstrants than is customary. Objections to pole locations in March, Mt. Hope and Abbott streets were referred to the commissioners concerned for arbitration and recommendation.

BUILDINGS THREATENED
BY MIDNIGHT FIRE

Three wooden structures in upper Merrimack street were threatened early this morning by a fire which broke out in a building numbered 481 Merrimack street and spread to buildings numbered 487 and 491 before being brought under control. Only one tenement in 481 Merrimack street was occupied and the tenants were assisted to the street by Officers John W. Mahan, John J. McManus and Patrick J. Craig. The fire was discovered at 12.25 a.

Considerable difficulty was encountered in locating the fire and it was not until 1.33 o'clock that the call was sounded.

Enthusiastic, Fulsome Praise Bestowed on This Marvelous Product

NOTHING LIKE CHEX IN 2000 YEARS

"Fills Long Felt Want," Physicians Proclaim

Dr. F. Dale Barker, widely known Dayton physician, one of scores to endorse Chex:

The Pioneer Products Co., Dayton, Ohio.

October 30, 1923.

Gentlemen—I gave the sample bar of "Chex" to a patient who is greatly annoyed by excessive and odorous perspiration, so that it is a great trouble for him to keep by constant bathing from being offensive to his friends in this particular. He now reports that "Chex" works well, giving cleanliness and leaving a sweet and wholesome odor that is most agreeable. He also says that its endurance is quite remarkable, this one bar lasting very much longer than the usual cake of soap of same size.

Very respectfully, (Signed) F. Dale Barker, M.D.

"Fulfills All Requirements"

Gentlemen—Your sample of "Chex" fulfills all of the requirements of a good soap for the toilet and bath. It is soothing to the skin and has a pleasant aroma that would be agreeable to the most fastidious, and I hope that it will soon become a household soap.

Very truly yours,
(Signed) George W. Calvin, M.D.,

Ex-Surgeon-in-Chief, Emergency Hospital,
150 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass.

"Excellent Toilet Soap"

Gentlemen—I have received your sample cake of "Chex" and find it to be a very excellent toilet and deodorant soap.

Sincerely yours, (Signed) A. Noble, M.D.,
Boston, Mass.

Springfield, Ill., Doctor's Letter:

Gentlemen—The cake of "Chex" which you sent me was used in a case of Sudamina (moist eczema) and found odor with gratifying results. We are glad to have our attention called to "Chex" which we shall continue to prescribe in such conditions.

Yours truly, (Signed) J. C. Walters, M.D.,
720 E. Capitol Ave., Springfield, Ill.

Bloomington, Ill., Physician Gave Chex Clinical Tests:

Very truly yours,
(Signed) S. E. Winget, M.D.,

"Best Toilet Soap I Have Ever Used"

Gentlemen—I received your sample cake of "Chex" and wish to thank you for same. I think your soap is one of the best grade toilet soaps that I have ever used. Wishing you much success and if this will help you in any way, I am very glad to help you.

Very respectfully, (Signed) Mrs. B. Norris,
Junius Sanitarium, 1212 Junius St., Dallas, Texas.

Chex Not Irritating, Doctor Uses It on Sick Baby—Thinks Better Than Castile

Gentlemen: Have been using "Chex" on my sick baby, and am much pleased with it. It is not irritating and is soothing to the skin, and I am going to recommend it in obstetric cases in place of castile, which I have been using. Where can I get some more?

(Signed) M. T. Heffernan, M.D.,
Howard Building, Decatur, Ill.

WOMAN MISSING IN COAKLEY CASE

CAMBRIDGE, June 18.—Phyllis Allen, alias Pennington, according to witnesses, prominent in many of the alleged blackmail traps of former District Attorney William J. Corcoran and Daniel H. Conkley, a disbarred Boston lawyer, on trial here for conspiracy to extort by threatening prosecution, has been sought unsuccessfully by the prosecution in New York city. This was brought out in the Middlesex Superior court today by Conkley who, defending his own case, in subjecting Assistant District Attorney Robert T. Bushnell to a severe cross-examination.

Bushnell admitted that the district attorney's office had sent Harry C. Lovensou, a state witness and confessed co-conspirator with Conkley and Corcoran, to find Miss Allen in New York. The witness added further that Miss Allen had been kept "on the run" by the defense so that she would not be compelled to testify by the district attorney. "We have had information of her being in New York, down South,

The jewels were taken from the bedroom of Mrs. Ford while he and her husband were entertaining two guests. It was announced.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

SAVED BY RUM-RUNNERS

Rush to Aid New Chaser and Rescue Custom Officers
and Crew

STOCKHOLM, June 18.—Rum runners in Sweden bear no grudge against their pursuers. This was proved in a striking way when a new chaser recently launched by the anti-smuggling police came to grief in the archipelago off Stockholm. The vessel of the law broke her propeller shaft and was at the mercy of the waves until the rum runners, defying all danger, came alongside and rescued the customs officers and crew.

BUICK MOTOR USED TO PUMP WATER

Buick valve-in-head motors are designed to provide power for personal transportation. That is their primary purpose, but often one finds a Buick performing tasks that are quite out of the ordinary.

In Hiawatha, Kan., for instance, a 1919 Buick valve-in-head motor was removed from its chassis and installed in the water works where it is used in emergencies to pump water. No longer does this motor delight in taking its owner about the city, over the hills and across the prairies. Rather it finds itself confined to the depths of a 12-foot pit. But it does not sulk or shrink its duty. Instead of covering familiar highways and exploring new ones, it stands ready to turn its power toward the saving of life and property.

RECEPTION FOR, 1924
NOTRE DAME CLASS

A pretty and most enjoyable reception and farewell party was held last evening at the Marlborough by the graduates of '24 of the Academy of Notre Dame, with Miss A. Kathryn McConnick, president of the class, as hostess. The hall was prettily decorated in blue and gold, the class colors, while the reception room was arranged with baskets of flowers and greenery. A fine musical program was given by the Davey ensemble who also furnished the music for an exhibition waltz given by Messrs. John Lavery and Arthur Carroll, the latter the winner of the cup in the Valentine prize dance contest at the Auditorium last year. Mr. Lavery also entertained with the Frisco dance.

Among the guests of the evening were Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, Mrs. Maurice E. McCormick, Mrs. J. Flynn, Mrs. W. Pickett, Mrs. D. Conway, Mrs. J. E. Lambert, Mrs. A. O'Connor, Miss J. Cashman, Mrs. J. Moran, Mrs. J. McNabb, Mrs. John McBride, Mrs. T. Ryan, Mrs. J. Lavery, Mrs. H. O'Neill, Mrs. J. Killen, Mrs. R. Conway, Mrs. M. J. Geary, Mrs. N. C. Walker, Mrs. Alice Saunders, Mrs. W. Holden, Mrs. W. Riley, Miss Mary White and Mrs. M. Savage. Messrs. John McBride, Daniel O'Connor, Arthur Riley, Edward Kilken, Arthur Conway and John Lavery, who acted as ushers at the commencement exercises yesterday, also acted as ushers last evening. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room by the hospitality committee, under the direction of Miss McLeod.

Remarkable Discovery
Banishes Gray Hair

A Proved Substitute for the
Lost Pigmentation

Original Color Quickly Appears

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair or scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that after using Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed."

Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigments from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. Kolor-Bak is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

Kolor-Bak has been proved by hundreds of thousands of people, once gray, now with hair in the original color. Get a bottle today.

COMMUNISTS WIN FIRST SKIRMISH

Hail Success as Indication of Ability to Put Over Program for Third Party

Farm Labor-Progressive Convention in Uncertain State of Mind

ST. PAUL, June 18. (By the Associated Press.)—Faced with financial troubles coming on top of a political victory yesterday in the first skirmish of the gathering, delegates to the national farm-labor progressive convention today began work in an uncertain state of mind.

Charles E. Taylor, state senator from Minnesota, who was elected permanent chairman of the convention yesterday, said he had no definite program in mind for today aside from the selection of standing committees and his own formal speech as permanent chairman.

The convention, he indicated, would be at a standstill until the committee on party organization was ready to report with speech-making employed to fill the interval, with Allice Lorraine Daly, the first woman candidate for governor in South Dakota, as headliner.

Miss Daly was elected secretary of the convention by acclamation yesterday on motion of Joseph Manley, Illinois delegate from the workers' party, and acknowledged spokesman in the convention for William Z. Foster, American representative for the Moscow internationals.

Senator Magnus Johnson has been tentatively proposed as a speaking guest of the convention by William Mahoney, temporary chairman, but the initial successes of the communists made his appearance before the convention doubtful.

Communists hailed their victory of yesterday as an indication of ability to put over their program for an immediate third-party organization.

They based that on the result of a vote which blocked immediate selection of standing committees and forced an adjournment until today. The vote was taken on a division of the individual delegates, irrespective of the voting strength of the various delegations under the convention call. Three hundred and seventy-seven out of 481 seated delegates were counted on the vote and 232 voted for the communists' proposal. The negative votes numbered 145. That left the attitude of the accredited delegates undetermined.

Another doubtful element in the situation was the fact that the voting strength under the call totaled 971. The conservative forces under the leadership of Mahoney hoped that the absentee would swing to their column and enable the communists' proposal to carry.

Neither side, however, was able to calculate just what the effect of the absentee vote would be upon a formal roll call by states.

The real test on that question may come late today, when the party organization committee will produce a definite platform that will produce a majority and minority reports is likely in that committee and a vote would settle the question definitely.

Major Parties Played

Prediction that the farmer-labor party eventually would "disappear" into the capitalist parties that hold the power today, was made by Charles E. Taylor, Montana state senator, in an address today formally accepting his permanent chairmanship of the national farm-labor progressive convention here.

Mr. Taylor criticized the communists' democratic and revolutionary platform and issued an appeal to farmers and workers to unite more closely for political action, and urged a "ballot box revolution."

"Out of this historic convention," he said, "is destined to grow the great mass class farmer-labor party, a party that in a few short years will displace the two main parties of the country, and take the power today, and take over the power in this nation in the name of the workers and producers of the world, setting up a government of the workers, for the workers and by the workers."

Mr. Taylor urged co-operation of all factions in the convention in bringing about a "mass class farmer-labor party."

He criticized the recent republican convention at Cleveland, in which he said, "the Harry Daugherty and the representatives of the burlesque who stole millions from the people while our boys were making the world safe for democracy," and said that the architects of the age, set those who have made fat and grew rich from the labor of the babies in our industry. In a few days more the other party of the international banking and industrial organizations will meet in the very midst of international capitalism and there will be a platform and name the candidate selected for them by the international of capitalism; men like Duane and Murphy, and McAdoo and A. Mitchell Palmer; men who stole millions while the republicans state thousands.

"So we do not need to worry so much about who are sitting with us, providing that they are pledged to the ending of the system that entrails and joins with us to correct the present injustices."

"The fact that we are here tonight is a great political party is to answer enough of those who accuse some of the factors here of entertaining ideas of extra legal methods."

"I would rather sit with the reddest communists in the world than sit with the aggregation that met at the other end of Cleveland, or who will meet at New York."

"We must form a mass-class farmer-labor party; we must declare for land for the users, jobs for the workers, liberty and equality for all men."

"No work of man is sacred. What man has done once, he is justified in doing again. When our constitution does not meet the necessities of the people, when our form of government becomes inadequate or obsolete, it becomes our right to change it. It becomes our right to change it."

TO CHANGE TIME OF NUTRITIONAL CLINICS

At the June meeting of the Lowell Tuberculosis council it was decided to change the time and day of the nutritional clinics at present being held on Saturday mornings in the basement of the high school, with entrance on the Ames street side of the building. As soon as the schools are closed, the clinics will be held on Thursday afternoons in the same location.

Miss Nathalie Marshall, in charge of these clinics, reported that five children's clinics were held during May with an attendance of 20. In co-operation with the Social Service league, three clinic children will be sent to the country for a month.

Miss Riordan, tuberculosis nurse, reported 152 tubercular cases, 238 contact cases, four deaths and six sent to sanatoriums.

William M. Goodell, treasurer, read the budget for the remainder of the fiscal year, the account showing enough money on hand to carry on the work of the council until the next Christmas seal sale.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

The Lowell high school band, John A. Giblin, leader, will give a concert in the Abraham Lincoln school hall, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The band has made a splendid record this season and the school authorities feel very happy in securing the date. The concert is arranged, chiefly, for the children of the school, but parents and residents of the neighborhood are invited to attend. There is no admission fee to the concert and it is hoped that many adults will take advantage of this opportunity to hear the band with which Director Giblin has done so much this season.

JUDGE R. M. WANAMAKER JUMPS TO HIS DEATH

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 18.—Judge R. M. Wanamaker, associate justice of the Ohio supreme court, who had attained wide recognition for advocacy of legal reform, jumped from the fourth story window of a hospital today, dying instantly. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown. He was elected to the Ohio court in 1912, and re-elected in 1918. He was 55 years of age and started his public career as a public surveyor.

Crack Teams of Penn Relay Carnival to Clash Here

succeeded in carrying off high honors at Philadelphia.

The Huntington school team took first place in the medley relay and low came in third, leading all other high school teams.

The Medford team captured third place in the one mile relay while Huntington was first in the two-mile relay and Lowell high took fourth, again leading all high schools of the country.

Lawrence high was not entered in the Penn State relay, but had a first-class relay team which should add to the interest of the race. Residents of the down-river city firmly believe in backing their teams to the limit and they will not fall in this case, but will send a large cheering section.

When the five and a half mile relay teams draw up for the starting gun, one of the fastest and most interesting relay races ever staged here will be just ahead. It will be a race such has never before been seen in Lowell.

The official entry list is ready for publication tomorrow and listed in the various events will be stars from all sections of New England.

The 100-yard event gained additional significance this morning when Glendinning of Phillips-Andover academy entered the race.

Harington Moore of Medford, often termed the best school-boy 100-yard runner in New England and James Daley, Lowell high's crack dash man and state public schoolboy champion, are already entered in this event and with Glendinning also entered, this race will be one that will go down into local track history. Daley has defeated Moore twice and is one to gain undisputed title to the championship by defeating Moore again on this occasion.

Every young men's club in the city has been appealed to by Mr. Conway to support the meet and several have already promised that every member who can possibly attend will be there.

The chamber of commerce, Lions and Rotary clubs, three organizations which supported the alumni association in its plans for a cinder track, are doing everything in their power to help along the sale of tickets.

A meet such as this one, if held in the Harvard stadium would draw a capacity audience and it is hoped that Alumni field, which accommodates only 6000, will be filled when the first race is started at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

by means of the ballot box if possible, is the reason that we are here today. The impending crisis demands vigilance, action, courage. We are here to act."

Fight Against Communists

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—(By the Associated Press.) Aroused by yesterday's "misunderstanding," William Mahoney of St. Paul, leader of the conservative faction in the National Farmer-labor progressive convention declared that delegates from South Dakota, Washington, Nebraska, Montana, and Minnesota, had assured him they would be on their guard against a recurrence of yesterday's communist successes.

Mahoney was named as the Minnesota member of the organization committee where he is determined to fight for his decentralizing national organization plan. This movement is opposed by the communists who would have a highly centralized national party.

A. A. Hathaway of St. Paul, who in the pre-convention committee fight helped the communists disrupt preliminary sessions and by blockading Mahoney's majority report, was named on the nominations committee by the Minnesota caucus.

Millionaire's Son, 20, Elopes and Puts One Over on Dad

TOMMY LEAMAN, SON OF THE MILLIONAIRE, AND JULIA HOYT, HIS 16-YEAR-OLD BRIDE.

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
NEW YORK, June 18.—When Thomas P. Leaman, Sr., millionaire, drops the mud hook of his yacht in New York harbor, he is going to have the biggest surprise of his trip.

Instead of being greeted by only his 20-year-old son, Tommy, Jr., he will hear a little bob-haired miss sweetly chirp, "Daddy."

For Tommy, Jr., has forsaken his books, and taken himself a bride, the 16-year-old Julia Hoyt, known as "Connecticut's most beautiful bud."

It all happened two weeks ago at a Norwalk, Conn., country club dance.

Tommy met Julia, and Julia met Tommy. The world faded out for both of them. Elopement was the natural result.

MUCH OF $3,000,000 BRITISH CABINET ACTS ON MEXICAN SITUATION

CHICAGO, June 18.—Much of the $3,000,000 loot obtained in the holdup last Thursday night of a Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad mail special has been recovered, and Chicago policemen and postal inspectors expect to find an additional substantial quantity today.

Enough evidence has been obtained to justify charging the eight men under arrest in connection with the hold-up with the robbery, and the three women as accessories, according to the police. Three other men are sought.

J. H. Wayne, one of the suspects, found with five bullet wounds and thought to have been shot during the holdup, was reported dying.

Charged With Larceny of Beer

ed at the police station, charged with the larceny of six cases of beer, valued at $4.50 each, from the warehouse of the Manchester and Concord Express Co., whose offices are located in a building adjoining the Boston and Maine freight house.

Neighbors, attracted by the commotion in the railroad yards, excitedly telephoned the police that a break had been made in the freight-house. Officers responded and found Officer Simonds with the three suspects.

Federal Prohibition Agent Walter Sullivan also was called after quiet had been restored and tested the contents of the bottles. He found a high percentage of alcohol, but the question of ownership remained and still remains a mystery. Police inquiry at the express office today failed to throw any light on the subject, as employees there deny all knowledge of the beer even having been delivered.

It was not the company's property, they say. It was removed to the police station.

In district court this morning, the three men were found probably guilty of breaking and entering in the night time, and the larceny of the six cases of beer. They were ordered to recognize in $300 each for their appearance in superior court.

Home Circulation is Best

Advertisers who use The Sun consistently get greater returns on the money invested than through any other Lowell newspaper. There's a reason. The Sun goes into more homes in Lowell and suburbs than any other Lowell paper and ninety per cent of Sun readers read no other Lowell newspaper. Furthermore, ninety five per cent of The Sun circulation is confined to the city of Lowell and immediate vicinity.

This letter is certainly convincing proof. "Fruit-a-lives" are sold by all dealers at 25c and 50c a box—sent postpaid by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ogdensburg, N. Y.

For instance, we know that certain fruit juices, when concentrated and intensified, act directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile and also strengthening the muscles controlling the bowels, thus overcoming constipation—one of the commonest ailments of today and the one which is the cause of so many much more serious complaints.

That these statements are based on facts, is proved by those

Mrs. John Capozzi of Ashford, New York, writes, "I used several kinds of physic for over three years. While I took it every night, my bowels would move; but as soon as I would stop, I would have piles terribly. I heard of 'Fruit-a-lives' and bought one box and took them. I am not troubled any more with my bowels and no more piles. 'Fruit-a-lives' did for me what no other medicine ever did, and now I do not have to use physic at all."

Phone Heart Beats to Save Life

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
NEW YORK, June 18.—They are telephoning heartbeats now. And scientists say the results may be more wide reaching than even those of "talking photographs."

For the stethophone, the new electric stethoscope, developed by engineers of the Western Electric company, is expected to throw new light on the treatment of heart disease, and the early detection of tuberculosis.

It makes possible the wholesale "listening-in" on the murmurs that mean so much in diagnosing heart and lung disease.

Five hundred physicians attending a medical convention in Chicago sat spell-bound as they heard together the regular "thump, thump" of a patient's heart, interspersed with the hissing sound of a leaky heart valve.

The stethophone consists of a three-staged vacuum tube amplifier mounted on wheels like the familiar tea wagon. The sounds are picked up by pressing an electrical chest piece against the patient's body. After amplification the electrical currents go to head receivers equipped either with stethoscope tubes or covered with soft rubber against which the listener presses his own stethoscope. A group of electrical filters cut out undesired sounds so the listeners can concentrate on what is most important.

By using the stethophone as a "microscope" for body sounds, physicians hope soon to be able to make earlier diagnosis of tuberculosis. In childbirth, too, the ease with which the child's heartbeats can be followed may save many lives. The physician or nurse can listen continuously, either through a head set with a long cord or by connecting a loud speaker. One grave danger to the child is indicated by a change in its pulse, and when this appears instant action must be taken to save its little spark of life.

NEW HAVEN ARENA FRANK WILSON, B. C. HELEN WILLS DEFEATED

GUTTED BY FIRE STAR JOINS BRAVES IN SINGLES MATCH

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 18.—The Arena, leased by the Yale hockey team and used for the first time this spring as a storage house and sales room for used automobiles, was completely gutted by fire early today. The old Hooker Carriage factory in State street, part of the Arena structure, and occupied by several manufacturing concerns, was also burned out and other nearby property threatened for a time.

The used car exchange in which a large number of local automobile dealers are interested suffered a loss of about 200 cars, which were stored in the Arena auditorium. The loss is estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000.

MASSACHUSETTS MILLS TO CLOSE

the textiles, is planning any further curtailments at the present time.

Recent reports from Lindale, Georgia, where the Massachusetts has a modern textile plant producing its special lines, announced that manufacturing operations there were continuing on about a three-quarters capacity, so-called.

Exceptionally quiet conditions prevail today in American cotton goods primary markets. Wholesalers are doing a light business largely made up of orders in small packages. It is declared. Retailers in round numbers have been liquidating many of their stocks of ready-to-wear to initial costs, having no real relation to initial costs.

Curtailement of production throughout the north and south has extended very much this month. Reports of idleness in various mills are not as specific as in the case of New England business at current prices.

ATTEMPT TO STEAL SEIZED LIQUOR

GLOUCESTER, June 18.—Two men made an unsuccessful attempt early today to steal from the coast guard a motor boat containing 2000 gallons of alcohol which was seized earlier in the week. They overpowered a coast guardsmen left in charge of the boat in Fresh Water cove, bound and gagged him and put him in a fisherman's shack, then put out to sea.

In the fog they missed the channel and the boat went around. It was recovered later in the day by coast guardsmen with its cargo intact.

Land mills, however, but large commission houses representing large groups of southern plants, say that between 30 and 35 per cent of southern machinery is idle or partially so.

There has been some indication of a lighter supply of goods arising from continued mill curtailments, but the chief effect thus far has been idleness in various mills are not as specific as in the case of New England business at current prices.

Fruit Juices practically Infallible in Correcting Certain Diseases

After eating fruit and enjoying the delicious flavour of fruits from all over the world, we are just beginning to realize the enormous influence which fruit juices have on our health.

Fruit juices are Nature's medicine; and we now know that fruit juices in certain forms, are infallible in correcting many of the more common diseases.

For instance, we know that certain fruit juices, when concentrated and intensified, act directly on the liver, increasing the flow of bile and also strengthening the muscles controlling the bowels, thus overcoming constipation—one of the commonest ailments of today and the one which is the cause of so many much more serious complaints.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS

To Keep Continuous Check on Campaign Contributions and Expenditures

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The senate committee authorized to investigate campaign contributions and expenditures this year plans to establish headquarters in Chicago and to keep continuous check on these during the active period of the campaign. When it will meet at the request of any of its five members.

After selecting Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, as chairman, the committee at an organization meeting yesterday decided to call on party campaign managers for reports every ten days on expenditures and sources of funds, including the names of contributors.

Although the committee will be called together as soon as the campaign gets actively under way, Chairman Borah said, it was unlikely there would be any occasion for public hearings before the latter part of August, any use of money in the campaign which the committee think should be inquired into, he said, should be investigated with a view to developing the actual facts. Just how far the inquiry might be carried into the primaries, the chairman said, would be decided in a day or two.

"FIGHTING BLOOD," ROUND SEVEN — FOX NEWS

AT THE THEATRES

RIALTO THEATRE

Rex (Snowy) Baker, hailed as the foremost "stunt king" in the films will be seen at the Rialto theatre the latter half of the week starting Thursday in his very latest film sensation, "The Empire Builders." Baker is the star who made such a hit in "The Last Race" and "The White Panther." Of course, his justly famous horse, "Boomerang," is also in the picture.

Unquestionably the two greatest men of the last generation were Cecil Rhodes and our own Theodore Roosevelt. Each had in a wonderful degree the power of inspiring other men, of converting enemies into followers, of raising enthusiastic armies to fight in great causes. It is a pity they never met, a pity that the strenuous African slept on Matopos Hill while the strenuous American was laying proof of his greatness. Two hundred thousand square miles of fertile land redeemed from savagery, made fit for white men to live upon, cleared, populated with cities and connected by railroads—what an achievement for one lone man!

The character that would have delighted Rhodes is that of Captain Ballard, in "The Empire Builders." Ballard, played by Snowy Baker, is one of the adventurous vanguards who first penetrated Rhodesia—his mission being to open the way for settlement by making a peace treaty with a fearless warrior, Karul, king of the Marukus. The picture's story is Ballard's story of the perils and treacheries of the veldt—the victory of civilization over savagery. His path is beset by savage hordes, resentful natives, and even a well-meaning friend betrays him.

John Gilbert in "A Man's Mate," is the added feature and presents Gilbert in the role of an artist who meets an Apache girl in a Paris drinking place and falls in love with her.

The seventh round of H. C. Wilcox's "Fighting Blood" and a Fox News complete the picture program, but an added attraction has been secured that will be of interest to all, especially the children.

Chief Toma, full-blooded Indian will appear at every performance in native costume and will give an entertaining as well as educational talk on the customs of his people. He will also give a few dances and Indian folk songs.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
Thrown overboard in mid-ocean, along with a hatched full of United States bonds—left in a barrel in the water while the ship sank, with automatic flare attached, is the picture which comes to the screen in the trouble in which Johnnie Walker found himself in "The Mail Man."

Emory Johnson's latest E. B. O. production, which comes to the Merrimack Square theatre tomorrow, is "The Mail Man," a picture which contains the valuable papers which he, as the mail clerk aboard the S.S. Enterprise, had left to guard. The run runner, seeing the flare, picks up the floating package and Johnnie with it. To avoid a violent death, the boy pretends to be an accomplice in the crime and is conspired by the conspirators for the daring robbery.

The Pacific fleet catches sight of the run runner, plants a shot across their bow, and captures, not only the conspirators, but Johnnie as well, arresting him for robbery and murder.

How the unfortunate mail clerk gets out of the difficulty forms the basis of a gripping drama, which Emory Johnson, author of "The Third Alarm" and other Emory Johnson pictures, has developed in a truly masterful way.

Ralph Lewis plays the leading role of "The Mail Man," Johnnie's father, and a splendid supporting cast furnishes the two popular stars with a fine background.

Manager Johnson has arranged for Lowell's mail men to view this big production at the Merrimack Square theatre. Through the co-operation of Postmaster Delisle, plans have been completed to have the mail men parade from the postoffice to the theatre in a body, where the picture will be dedicated to them and to the postmaster.

The other attraction for the week-end is "The Grail," featuring Dustin Farnum in one of his typical, virile adventure productions. A comedy and the latest International News will complete the bill.

Tonight find performances of "Men," starring Pola Negri, the great love actress of the screen, and "The Country Kid," with Wesley Barry, will be given.

AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR NEW COMFORT STATION

The park commission yesterday awarded the contract for construction of a comfort station and shower baths on North common to William Drapau and the plumbing contract on the same job to Roche & Co. Both were the low bidders in their respective lines among the four builders and seven plumbers competing.

The City Twilight league was given the use of the South common four nights a week after July 1 from which date the Lowell Twilight league will be assigned to First street oval. Supt. Kiernan informed the board that the municipal bathhouse on the boulevard will be opened tomorrow morning for the summer season.

The bids submitted for the comfort station construction: William Drapau, tile, $7537, solid brick wall, $5902; Fred Meloy, tile, $9999, solid brick, $10,799; William J. Hurley, tile, $7540, solid brick, $5954; Daniel H. Walker, $9490.

The plumbing bids: Roche & Co., $2000; John B. Drury, $2395; Farrell & Condon, $2254; J. J. Mullany & Co., $2395; William H. McElholm, $2403; Quigley & Harrington, $2400, and J. T. McGuinness, $2626.

Two gas heaters, at $1370 for the pair, were ordered purchased from the Lowell Gas Light Co., this being the price quoted by that concern. They will be used to heat the water for the showers.

George A. Hill of the Hill company, appeared to offer radio service at the South common six nights a week, two hours each night, at from $15 to $40 a week. Prince-Cotter Co. offered similar loud speaker service for $20 a week, and were directed to install a set for demonstration purposes with a view to acceptance of the offer if the results obtained are found acceptable.

Councillor Arthur B. Chadwick spoke favorably the acquisition of land adjacent to Morley school to playground purposes, but was unsuccessful in obtaining any action.

DESERVED RECOGNITION FOR MAIL CARRIERS

The Mail man, that ever faithful but seldom appreciated servant of the public, loyally devoted to his government and steadfast in his desire to enter his best day in and day out, will come into his own in Lowell tomorrow evening when public tribute will be paid the mail men of this city.

Early in the evening the members of the local post office carriers' force will meet at the post office in Gorham street and march in a body to the Merrimack Square theatre where they will be the guests of the management at the performance of Emory Johnson's notable screen epic of that branch of governmental service, "The Mail Man."

Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle is co-operating with the theatre management in the affair and the demonstration should be a notable one. Mr. Delisle will attend the performance with the carriers and the production will be formally dedicated to him and his men. The general public will be invited to assist at the exercises.

When one considers what tremendous drama is contained in the thin little envelope the mail man delivers to hundreds of the citizens of the nation, one will readily understand what is meant when it is said that the mail man is the most dramatic of all public workers.

He is the bearer of good tidings and ill, of joy and disaster. His hand carries news of all descriptions, news that sets great business organizations in motion, that brings others to a tragic end. He is himself a part of our real life dramas that were over-devised for the stages of this or any other country. He has a heart of gold and a spirit that is dauntless—a spirit that has made the postal department of the United States one of the most efficient organizations in the world today.

"The Mail Man" strives to tell a few simple truths and to place the mail workers of the nation in the right light so that the public may know them as they are.

ROTARIANS AND LIONS HEAR JUDGE HENRY A. SHUTE

Lions Club Members Are Genial Hosts at Splendid Get-together of the Two Clubs in Liberty Hall During Noon-Hour Today

More than 200 members of the Lowell Rotary and the Lions' clubs, drawn together yesterday in joint fraternal assemblage for the second time, with the Lions acting as hosts, sat down to an excellent banquet in Liberty hall. The head tables were completely filled with officers and committee members of both organizations and invited guests on hand from several places of life in city, state and the northern New England territories. There were no vacant seats at the banquet tables.

Rotarian executives were present, with practically a full organization membership, with the exception of President Arthur Spaulding, who is attending Harvard commencement reunions, and Secretary Roy Parbert, representing Lowell Rotary at the Toronto, Canada, convention of International Rotary.

President G. Forest Martin of the flourishing Lions' club, was justly proud of the roll-call showing of his organization. Few regulars were missing and every executive officer was on hand to aid in making the Rotarian record what it ought to be and was. Judge Henry A. Shute, of Exeter, N. H., author of "The Real Diary of a Real Boy," was the special card of the after-dinner entertainment. The New England-born humorist, whose quality of eloquence and rare, dry quips that create bounding hilarity, captivated the audience.

And such it was, although he had a story old in origin to tell—a review of a home-town orchestra playing for New Hampshire dances in the days before jazz swamped the Granite State from Pelham, N. H., to the Canadian line. Judge Shute, in maintaining his hold on New Hampshire city and country dance halls, much to Judge Shute's utter disgust.

Previous to the appearance of today's star attraction, President Martin briefly explained what the meeting was really for—this coming together of two of Lowell's active social organizations, of the fraternity of citizenship. Of course a Rotarian had to break in as usual, demanding music and song first, as everybody joined in singing the latest that could be thought of at the moment, "In the Good Old Summer Time"—which went very big and was encored. Horatio R. Levesque sang "Just a Song at Twilight" after that. Late model songs were strictly taboo today, but everything new all night, for everybody could sing the old ones.

President Martin presided along the coming track, and to be held at Alumni field, Saturday. Lions and Rotary clubs have guaranteed to take care of a giant pack of admission tickets at one-dollar per head.

Plans for the Lions-Rotary golf championship contest, to be held at Nashua Country club Thursday, June 26, are completed. Trophies are to be awarded.

Guests who were picked out today for special honors and many extended extra-special good wishes, were Past President Robert Thomson, who needed no introduction, and Austin K. Chadwick, who didn't want one, but had to stand up just the same and let them sing to him.

The atmosphere in Liberty hall was just right when President Martin, acting as toastmaster of the day's joint get-together, announced solemnly that it was "brilliant and fair" and "didn't keep in mind now," said Judge Henry A. Shute, our old humorist of English and proud of it, was introduced to meet a representative Lowell audience and entertained them. The "Lions' roar" made it entirely informal although only a few members dared to stand up and make the ritualistic greeting louder.

The New Hampshire citizen-author-good fellow's talk was informal and most friendly, with bits of humor sparkling along the trail of welcome. He told a few stories with good points, was not afraid to reveal Shute family affairs in ludicrous situations and then announced that he was going to read an article attacking jazz and jazz-mania and everything about jazz, which Judge Shute doesn't like at all.

The Rotarian guests expected something vibrant, but it wasn't. The judge went back to the period about four years ago, when the Shute family started an orchestra, called "The Exeter Concert Orchestra." His references to the orchestra practice hours, the public concerts, the follies of the players who included Miss Shute, and the antics of the organization members when they resolved to learn how to play jazz.

The really humorous part of the Shute address this afternoon was the description of the players endeavoring to imitate in bizarre style, a modern jazz orchestra playing "The Bohemian Rhapsody." Everything went wrong and the Exeter Concert orchestra never made a jazz success of jazz music, with the clarinet at ways trying to play the a flat instrument, which the jazz music written in F or B and nobody knowing the difference because it was jazz and anything went.

Just before bidding the Lowell entertainers good-bye and good wishes, Judge Shute made an earnest plea against excessive jazz dancing, declaring that in some communities this sort of dancing has been carried to great excesses. He fully believed, he said, that the time was coming when jazz of the sort that decimates men and women, and particularly the young people of the country, will be eliminated for all time.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A motion to dismiss the two suits filed in the district supreme court attacking the validity of the soldier bonus act was entered today by Secretaries Mellon, Weeks and Wilbur, and Director Hines of the Veterans' bureau.

The government officials maintained that the act was a valid and constitutional exercise of the power of congress and its payment could not be enjoined by the court. It has been attacked by Benjamin Catchings, a New York attorney, and Joseph Wheelock, a war veteran. Catchings charged that the law was political repayment by members of congress to their constituents and Wheelock denounced it as class legislation.

RAP MacDonald BELGIUM WINS FOR BLUNDER BENNETT CUP

Premier and His Ministerial
Colleagues Attacked by
Anti-Government Press

Charged With Adopting
Amazingly Offensive Attitude Toward Mussolini

LONDON, June 18.—(By the Associated Press) Premier MacDonald and his ministerial colleagues are charged by the anti-government press and parliamentarians with adopting an amazingly offensive attitude toward the Mussolini government in Italy by at least tacit approval of a condemnatory resolution passed yesterday at a meeting of the British labor party at which Mr. MacDonald and some of the other ministers were present.

The resolution, after recording the party's profound detestation of the leadership of the socialist deputy, Maitland, "wishes to express its hearty support to the socialist party of Italy in its struggle against the forces that are trampling upon the fundamental principles of liberty and democracy."

It is not clear whether Premier MacDonald and his colleagues voted for the resolution but it is stated that they did not cast their ballots against it. Apologists for the government say the resolution merely expresses the attitude of the labor party and does not commit the administration.

The government critics, however, contend that this is not likely to have weight in Italy, where offense is inevitable. They term it an unimaginable blunder in the light of Mr. MacDonald's known desire for friendly relations with the European powers with a view to settlement of the reparations problem.

It is understood that the incident will be aired in the house of commons.

HANIHARA HOPES U. S. AND JAPAN WILL REMAIN FRIENDS

Ambassador Delivers Address at Brown University
—Says Friendship Will Survive if Two Nations
Remain True to Traditions of Pact

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 18.—Ambassadors and ministers who have represented the United States in Japan and to hundreds of other Americans who have played prominent parts in the story of modern Japan, Japan, he said, had been confronted with difficult problems, but "throughout these precarious years of our national life, it was America more than any other country that helped us always with wise counsel and friendly assistance."

"We of Japan," he said, "all felt and still feel that we owe America a lasting debt of gratitude which so far we have not failed and will never fail to repay as opportunities open themselves to us."

He spoke of the great trade Japan had furnished the western nations, and still felt that we owe America a lasting debt of gratitude which so far we have not failed and will never fail to repay as opportunities open themselves to us."

"We are and have been for years, your greatest customer on the Pacific, overwhelmingly so, and the United States is the greatest market for our products. We saw nothing that could mar these happy and mutually beneficial relations until after the Russian war, when certain evil forces began to work against the best interest of our two countries. Fortunately, however, two people on both sides of the Pacific were not slow in realizing the effect of this sinister influence and spared no effort for its removal."

"The task was not easy, but we kept patience. At last, at the Washington conference of a little over two years ago, in which one of Brown's worthy sons, Charles Evans Hughes, played the leading role so successfully this unhappy symptom of international discord was entirely removed and the relations between America and Japan were restored to their old level of happy and glorious friendship."

"Such has been, in brief, the history of our relations, which were made immeasurably closer by the generous act of sympathy on the part of the American people at the time of our great calamity of last September."

One American Debt of Gratitude

was nailed in place, and the last star was pinned to the acre-and-a-half of red, white and sky-blue background under which the gavel opening the convention will sound next Tuesday.

Herbert C. Pell, Jr., chairman of the democratic state committee, announced that the New York delegation would elect a chairman at the Hotel Commodore next Saturday. It also was announced that the democratic national committee would hold its first pre-convention session Saturday morning. Leaders declared the committee might at that time indicate its attitude toward the prospect of a fight on the convention floor, over the proposed inauguration of majority rule.

Although many early comers declared they had discovered a rift among McAdoo supporters on the majority rule issue, campaigners at this candidate's headquarters continued to declare the question would come to a vote, and that, backed by the prevalent attitude of the convention, they would continue to fight for a two-thirds vote. But, although they discussed the question, the Smith faction professed to be little interested in majority rule talk.

They declared that David Ladd Rockwell, the McAdoo chief, was "just building himself a little straw man." Thus far there has been almost no discussion of potential candidates for the vice presidential nomination. The prevailing attitude was pictured in a conversation among delegates at the national headquarters today.

"The republicans have Dawes," said a visitor from the mid-west. "Why couldn't we have Dawes?" Young, a good democrat and Dawes' right-hand man on the reparations commission?

Another delegate from the east stood up in the hurry. "Young for vice president?" he asked. "What's the matter with Young for president?"

DEATH CLAIMS NOTED DRAMATIC STAR IN MILTON NOBLES

Famous Actor and Playwright, Well Known Here
Through His Appearances in Old Music Hall, Succumbs to Stroke of Apoplexy in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Forty-nine years ago, a popular American actor and playwright, featuring plays of the blood-and-thunder type and starring in his own dramatic productions with marked success, arranged for the "one-night-only" appearance at Lowell's historic Music Hall on Dutton street, of a stellar melodramatic production, flamboyantly hand-billed "The Phoenix."

This was the colorful, thrillingly impressive dramatic play which occurred the famous thespian line: "And the villain still pursued her." It is a phrase still used in popular jargon of the present day.

Yesterday, in a quiet, modern apartment house at 139 First place, Brooklyn, simple funeral services were conducted over the remains of Milton Nobles, 78 years old, professional actor and playwright since 1867, who appeared in Lowell in the early '70s at old Music Hall.

His best theatrical offering was his own production of "The Phoenix," in which the famous character line about "the villain" appeared. Theatregoers of the ante-bellum days of Lowell and Middlesex county, who still reside in this vicinity, will remember, undoubtedly, the advent to Music Hall of Nobles and "The Phoenix."

Old-time Lowell musicians, who used to play in local amusement places half a century ago, can tell stories about Milton Nobles, and the "blood-and-thunder" Red-hot, blistering drama of the heroic mould and type was the money-maker just after the Civil war. Nobles, actor and playwright, catered to popular demand with thrilling plays and staccato dramatizations of blood-curdling tales that could always be depended upon to pack the houses of the New England one-night-stand circuit, filling the coffers of Milton Nobles.

Much had been heard about the success of the new Nobles play, "The Phoenix," concert and Manchester, N. H., and Portland, Me., had spoken well of it. Hartford and New Haven, Conn., wanted return performances, which Nobles was planning to present if he could extend his season contract with his proud troupe of players.

The night the successful show was billed at Music Hall on Dutton street, trouble appeared in the office for Milton Nobles and his "one Red circuit" barnstorming aggregation. The train to Lowell from Boston arrived very late. Nobles had his orchestra, music with him, but had no time for rehearsals with the Lowell orchestra waiting for the score.

The distressed actor went down into the Music Hall orchestra pit and interviewed the leader, W. Alonzo Owen, the same musician and piano instructor of today, who resides in June street.

"No chance to rehearse this music—no time for anything. What can you do with it, Mr. Owen?" the actor exclaimed, breathlessly, with an audience all around them, waiting and wondering.

Nothing fazed Mr. Owen when it came to arranging music for stage entertainment of any old kind. He agreed to do the best possible with the musical scores provided by Mr. Nobles, the perplexed actor-dramatist, and promptly took them to the piano in the pit and looked them over.

"The collection of music was about as disorderly as anything I have ever seen," said Mr. Owen, today. "It was written crookedly, notes jumbled together, portions distorted, or crossed, words interlined, etc., making it difficult to figure out as music. However, I took a chance at it, struggled along with it during the presentation of 'The Phoenix,' and the performance went along smoothly after a fashion."

"Mr. Nobles was immensely pleased, and after the performance, before departing from Music Hall, came over to me, shook hands and declared emphatically that I had done something fine. That the scores had never been played any better and true to all requirements. His pleasure was sincere, and I remember that he was a man of the genial stamp, cordial, friendly, making and retaining warm friend ships."

Mr. Nobles had been playing up to last Friday in the Empire theatre, New York, having a part in "She Stoops to Conquer." His role was that of Matt Huggins.

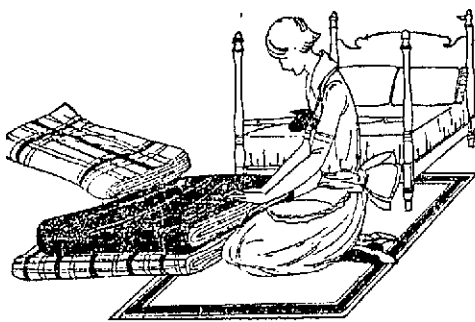

The distinguished actor once retired from the stage—in 1906—but returned in 1920 in Frank Bacon's part in "Luchino," one of the most successful of the many actors who assailed the part, and in which he continued until his health gave way in March of last year.

For the latest novelties from London do not feature innocent pink roses or blue bow knots, but build a whole sunshade on the general plan of birds, fishes or cats, and they are composed of feathers and fur in order to get a more perfect likeness.

The eyes of the cat, in one of the sunshades photographed are of glass, painted to copy as nearly as possible the steady eye of Tabby herself, and give a most sinister effect. The Lily maid is carried out in spotless ermine.

If you want something unique in the way of a card case, you can't do better than invest in one of the neat little leather affairs that strap just above the ankle. They are sure to attract quite as much attention as the ankle watch, which is always sure fire.

Clothes have been redeemed from the commonplace this season, and if you go about clinging to the old type of accessories, it is because you really prefer them.

SCHOOL RIVALS MEET
IN LAWRENCE

The Lowell and Lawrence high school baseball teams crossed bats at O'Sullivan park, Lawrence, this afternoon in the deciding game for the inter-city high school championship. The first encounter Lowell was victorious by a 4 to 1 score, while Lawrence took the second game, 8 to 6.

The opposing pitchers today were Ralph Hewitt for Lawrence, and Harry Cohen for Lowell. Hewitt has won one and lost one against the Red and Gray this season, while Cohen was the loser in the Alumni field contest about two weeks ago. "Mike" Cohen twisted Lowell to its first victory over the down-river men early in the season. He suffered a broken ankle some time ago and has been on the retired list since.

PLANS PROGRESS FOR
A. O. H. GATHERING

One of the biggest get-togethers in Middlesex county A.O.H. affairs in years is being planned for the last Sunday of the month, when practically every division in the county, with the members of their families and their friends, will assemble at the Working Boys' home in Newton Highlands for a grand reunion.

Brother Edman, a former Lowell boy, is extending every courtesy to the committee in charge of the gala event and everything points to a glorious time. Among the honored guests will be Mayor Curley and Mayor Quinn of Boston and Cambridge, respectively, and His Eminence, William Cardinal O'Connor.

The presidents of all divisions in the county held an enthusiastic meeting in Waltham last Sunday and formulated elaborate plans for the affair. Next Sunday afternoon, in the A.O.H. headquarters, Grosvenor building, here, there will be a special meeting of all members of the local divisions and the ladies' auxiliary. Final plans will be made at this meeting.

Let's Tune in For Swimming

When no one is around to scoff, and you long to show your talents at the beaches this summer, tune in for a radio swimming lesson. Several such have already been given throughout the country. Miss Ruth Dace of Chicago, shown above, believes in them to the point of assuming the realistic, but for the water.

HAS OWN IDEAS OF Simple Regenerative Receiver With Honeycomb Coils WIRELESS

By N.E.A. Service

KENOSHA, Wis., June 17.—Out of the world of radio amateurs comes one rather obscure "ham" with a theory of his own, an invention of hope and a claim of highest expectations. The amateur—Mark Kindt of this city.

The theory—that radio, a form of magnetism in itself, travels across space through the aid of the earth's magnetism.

The invention—a four-tube receiver for which Kindt claims remarkable results and advantages.

The claim made by his friends, mostly—that he is well on the way to become another Charles P. Steinmetz, another radio wizard.

Long at it

Kindt with Anthony Winther has been working on radio for the last four years. In a little shack on the west side of the city, he is working on his new set. He has already applied for patents on it. According to Kindt the receiver can discern with accuracy a ground for a receiving distance of 20 miles. It can receive as far as 1000 miles with ground connection only. It can get from 1200 to 1500 miles on a loop and from coast to coast on an outside aerial.

WIZARD!

MARK KINDT, OF KENOSHA, WIS., IS HAILED AS A RADIO WIZARD FOR HIS INVENTION AND "MAGNETIC THEORY" OF RADIO.

No squealing, clear signals, high selectivity, low battery consumption. A boon for radio listeners. That's the claim made by Kindt and Winther.

"Ridiculous," he says. "The theory is more remarkable. Radio has been supposed to travel through a medium called ether, regardless of the fact that the necessary properties of such an imaginary medium make it ridiculous," explains Kindt. "For instance, ether is supposed to have 150,000 times the rigidity of the hardest known material, and at the same time must permit material objects to pass through it without resistance."

So Kindt admits that idea and has evolved the theory of magnetism for radio. He has come to this conclusion after years of testing. Just as the magnet affects the compass, he believes, iron or steel affects radio waves.

"It is a known fact in electrical science," Kindt goes on to explain, "that a current passing through a wire sets up a magnetic field surrounding that wire. The magnetic field is supposed to have 150,000 times the rigidity of the hardest known material, and at the same time must permit material objects to pass through it without resistance."

"This at once explains such phenomena as 'fading,' 'dead spots' and particularly does it explain why an efficient aerial gives results thousands of times in excess of those obtained with small loops. The main of the earth's magnetism that you intercept with your aerial, the stronger the signal becomes, and the longer the distance you receive."

HOOK UP DIAGRAM OF THE THREE-COIL RECEIVER WITH DETAILED DIAGRAM SHOWING CONNECTIONS TO CLOSED CIRCUIT JACK FOR AUDIO AMPLIFIER.

BY ISRAEL KUBIN

NEA Service Radio Editor

For high range of reception, greater selectivity in tuning and simplicity of construction, try the three-coil regenerative set.

It is just a simple three-circuit tuner that doesn't bother your neighbors and is one of the simplest sets to put up. At the same time, with two stages of audio amplification added, it should bring in stations from 500 to 1000 miles, or even more, on a loud speaker.

The receiver consists of the following parts:

One three-coil mounting block.
One 75-turn honeycomb coil for the primary.
One 75-turn coil for the secondary.
One 50-turn coil for the tickler.
One variable condenser, 401 mfd., 45 places.

One 25-plate variable condenser, .0005 mfd.
One series-parallel switch and points.
One vacuum tube socket.
One 5-ohm rheostat.
One grid condenser and leak.
One single circuit jack.
A double circuit jack is necessary if the addition of an amplified unit is planned.

The 25-plate condenser is connected in the aerial circuit and is controlled by the series-parallel switch. The other condenser is shunted across the secondary coil.

Otherwise the hook-up is as simple as any other regenerative circuit.

For low wavelengths—as low as the combination of 75-75-50 coils can reach, the switch is set to connect the condenser in series with the primary coil. For the broadcasting wavelengths the condenser is connected in parallel with the coil.

Tubes for the circuit may be either of the storage battery or dry battery variety.

Tuning is accomplished chiefly with the two condensers. The variable distance between the primary and secondary coils controls the antenna coupling, while the movement of the tickler controls the regeneration.

TUTANKHAMEN'S TOMB

Percy White, Noted Egyptologist, Lectures Twice in Lowell Today

Percy White, the distinguished Egyptologist and life-long friend and associate of Howard Carter, gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on "The Discovery of the Tomb of King Tutankhamen" in the Memorial Auditorium this afternoon. The lecture was greatly enhanced by slides and motion pictures of the Egyptian monarch, his tomb and the relics discovered, together with views of the excavation activities in the Valley of the Kings.

The program will be repeated this evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds of the lectures will be given to the Lowell Guild for the furtherance of its work locally.

Mr. White, who is a noted author and authority on Egypt and its antiquities, and has been for years a member of the faculty of the Egyptian University at Cairo is a most entertaining speaker and his explanation of the numerous scenes of the tomb and its relics, and Egyptian customs 3000 years ago, is one which all should hear.

A noted journalist and author, Mr. White was for ten years editor of "Public Opinion." During the war he was a lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve and owing to his familiarity with Egypt and the east, was made interpreter of the Royal Naval Air Service in the Eastern Mediterranean. Mr. White is a brilliant writer as well as an able speaker and those attending the lecture this evening will be royally entertained.

crashed on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard. The three-year-old boy was asleep in his mother's lap and was thrown from the machine by the impact of the cars. He was rushed to St. John's hospital by Michael Mc-Namara of 52 Franklin street, who witnessed the collision.

The accident occurred shortly after 9:30 o'clock at the entrance to the boulevard. The Maynard car was proceeding in the direction of Lowell and travelling, according to the driver, at a rate of about 15 miles per hour. Mr. Maynard told the police he saw the Essex approaching on the left side of the road and turned sharply off the cement highway in an attempt to avoid being hit. The left side of the Essex struck the left side of the Ford, however, he said, and then swerved to the other side of the road, coming to a stop several feet away.

With MacKenzie at the time were Paul Garrigan and Norman Logan. None of them could be located immediately after the accident, but Motorcycle Officer Walter L. Kivlan found MacKenzie in Bridge street, between First and Second streets, some time later. Garrigan and Logan were apprehended shortly after and all three were treated at headquarters for minor cuts and bruises about the head and face. Garrigan and Logan were allowed to go after being questioned. They said the Essex car was the property of Yvonne LePage of Dracut, who had given them permission to borrow it for a ride.

The police officers who investigated the case, besides Motorcycle Officer Kivlan, were Lieut. Patrick Frawley, Arthur Drewett, Edward Hayes and Edward Liston.

Modern methods of whale-killing have become so effective that there is danger of the great sea mammals disappearing from southern waters.

RECEPTION FOR 1924 NOTRE DAME CLASS

A pretty and most enjoyable reception and farewell party was held last evening at the Marlborough by the graduates of '24 of the Academy of Notre Dame, with Miss A. Kathryn McCormick, president of the class, as hostess. The hall was prettily decorated in blue and gold, the class colors, while the reception room was arranged with baskets of flowers and greenery. A fine musical program was given by the Davey ensemble who also furnished the music for an exhibition waltz given by Messrs. John Lavery and Arthur Carroll, the latter the winner of the cup in the Valentin prize dance contest at the Auditorium last year. Mr. Lavery also entertained with the Frisco dance.

Among the guests of the evening were Rev. Thomas J. McDonough, Mrs. Maurice E. McCormick, Mrs. J. Flynn, Mrs. W. Pickett, Mrs. D. Conway, Mrs. J. E. Lavery, Mrs. A. O'Connor, Mrs. J. Cashman, Mrs. J. Moran, Mrs. J. McNabb, Mrs. John McBride, Mrs. T. Ryan, Mrs. J. Lavery, Mrs. R. O'Neill, Mrs. J. Kilheen, Mrs. R. Conway, Mrs. M. J. Gearin, Mrs. N. C. Walker, Mrs. Alice Saunders, Mrs. W. Golden, Mrs. W. Riley, Miss Mary White and Mrs. M. Savage. Messrs. John McBride, Daniel O'Connor, Arthur Riley, Edward Kileen, Arthur Conway and John Lavery, who acted as ushers at the commencement exercises yesterday, also acted as ushers at the reception. Dainty refreshments were served in the dining room by the hospitality committee under the direction of Miss McLeod.

Remarkable Discovery Banishes Gray Hair

A Proved Substitute for the
Lost Pigmentation

Original Color Quickly Appears

Science again has scored a triumph in the discovery of a very remarkable liquid known as Kolor-Bak. If you are gray, just apply this liquid to the hair or scalp and your hair will soon take on the actual color it had in the past. Not a trace of grayness will remain.

Kolor-Bak comes in the form of a clean and colorless liquid, containing properties which quickly restore the lost color to the hair and give it renewed vigor. And note that the one preparation is for all colors of hair. No special solution required for each color—no samples of hair required.

You will find also that after using Kolor-Bak the hair has the same shade throughout. It does not appear streaked, faded or "dyed." Every scientist, every physician, knows that gray hair is hair that has ceased to receive its normal supply of coloring matter or pigments from certain tiny cells (called follicles or papillae) in the scalp, because these cells have become inactive from illness, shock of some kind, scalp disease, dandruff, infection, neglect of the hair, or lack of circulation, etc. But no matter what the cause of the grayness, it is simply amazing to see how it disappears when Kolor-Bak is used. Kolor-Bak is a real substitute for the natural pigmentation.

Kolor-Bak has been proved by hundreds of thousands of people, once gray, now with hair in the original color. Get a bottle today.

SAVED BY RUM-RUNNERS

Rush to Aid New Chaser and Rescue Customs Officers
and Crew

STOCKHOLM, June 18.—Rum runners in Sweden bear no grudge against their pursuers. This was proved in a striking way when a new chaser recently launched by the anti-smuggling police came to grief in the archipelago off Stockholm. The vessel of the law broke her propeller shaft and was at the mercy of the waves until the rum runners, defying all danger, came alongside and rescued the customs officers and crew.

BUICK MOTOR USED TO PUMP WATER

Buick valve-in-head motors are designed to provide power for personal transportation. That is their primary purpose, but often one finds a Buick performing tasks that are quite out of the ordinary.

In Hlaawatha, Kan., for instance, a 1919 Buick valve-in-head motor was removed from its chassis and installed in the water works where it is used in emergencies to pump water. No longer does this motor delight in taking its owner about the city, over the hills and across the prairies. Rather it finds itself confined to the depths of a 12-foot pit. But it does not sulk or shrink its duty. Instead of covering familiar highways and exploring new ones, it stands ready to turn its power toward the saving of life and property.

er toward the saving of life and property. For less than a year it saw service in a 1919 Buick roadster. Then it was taken to the Hlaawatha water works, where it replaced a 50-horsepower electric motor in driving a pump. When it is called upon it is necessary to pump against a pressure of 100 pounds. It forces water through an eight-inch main to a standpipe which is 125 feet high and is located in the city three miles away. On such occasions the motor is run at a speed of 1650 revolutions per minute. John White, mayor of Hlaawatha, says that several times the motor has been maintained at that speed for 18 hours. The conditions of such service are none too easy. When the motor is started, it is put to work against a heavy pressure, which never lets up until the motor is stopped. It is like asking a motor car to climb continuously under a steady, relentless strain. Chocolate and cocoa stains may be removed by borax and cold water, or by bleaching if necessary.

Farm Labor-Progressive Convention in Uncertain State of Mind

ST. PAUL, June 18. (By the Associated Press.)—Faced with financial troubles coming on top of a financial victory yesterday in the first open skirmish of the gathering, delegates to the national farmer-labor progressive convention today began work in an uncertain state of mind.

Charles Taylor, state senator from Montana, who was elected permanent chairman of the convention yesterday, said he had no definite program in mind for today aside from the selection of standing committees and his own formal speech as permanent chairman.

The convention, he indicated, would be at a standstill until the committee on party organization was ready to report with speech-making employed to fill the interval, with Alice Lorraine Daly, the first woman candidate for governor in South Dakota, as headliner. Miss Daly was elected secretary of the convention yesterday.

TO CHANGE TIME OF NUTRITIONAL CLINICS

At the June meeting of the Lowell Tuberculosis council it was decided to change the time and day of the nutritional clinics at present being held on Saturday mornings in the basement of the high school, with entrance on the Anne street side of the building. As soon as the schools are closed, the clinics will be held on Thursday afternoons in the same location.

Miss Nathalie Marshall, in charge of these clinics, reported that five children's clinics were held during May with an attendance of 20. In cooperation with the Social Service league, three clinic children will be sent to the country for a month.

Miss Riordan, tuberculosis nurse, reported 152 tubercular cases, 229 contact cases, four deaths and six sent to sanatoriums.

William N. Goodell, treasurer, read the budget for the remainder of the fiscal year, the account showing enough money on hand to carry on the work of the council until the next Christmas seal sale.

HIGH SCHOOL BAND AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

The Lowell high school band, John J. Giblin, leader, will give a concert in the Abraham Lincoln school hall, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The band has made a splendid name this season and the school authorities feel very happy in securing the date.

The concert is arranged, chiefly, for the children of the school, but parents and residents of the neighborhood are invited to attend. There is no admission fee to the concert and it is hoped that many adults will take advantage of this opportunity to hear the band with which Director Giblin has done so much this season.

JUDGE R. M. WANAMAKER JUMPS TO HIS DEATH

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 18.—Judge R. M. Wanamaker, associate justice of the Ohio supreme court, who had attained wide recognition for advocacy of local reform, jumped from the fourth story window of a hospital today, dying instantly. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

He was elected to the Ohio court in 1912, and reelected in 1915. He was 58 years of age and started his public career as a public surveyor.

Crack Teams of Penn Relay Carnival to Clash Here

Continued

The Huntington school team took first place in the middle relay and high school relay in the country. The Middleford team, which had been leading in the one mile relay, while Huntington was first in the two-mile relay and Lowell high took fourth, again leading all high schools of the country.

Lawrence High was not entered in the Penn State relays, but had a first-class relay team which should add to the interest of the race. Residents of the down-river city firmly believe in backing their teams to the limit and put in a large cheering section.

When the first relay was run, one of the fastest and most interesting relay races ever staged here will be just ahead. It will be a race such as has never before been seen in Lowell and one that should draw a capacity crowd to Alumni field.

The official entry list will be ready for publication tomorrow and listed in the various events will be stars from all sections of New England.

Stamps not in high school events but in A.A.U. contests. Hugh McGinnis, starter for meet, will bring with him a bus load of athletes from the B.A.A. and the Dorchester Athletic association, two of the largest athletic associations in the east.

The 100-yard event gained additional significance this morning when Glendinning, who was defeated by Moore, entered. Harrington, of Medford, often termed the best schoolboy 100-yard runner in New England, and James Daley, Lowell high's crack dash man and state public schoolboy champion, are already entered in this event and with Glendinning also entered, this race will be one that will go down into local track history. Daley has defeated Moore twice and is out to gain undisputed title to the championship by defeating Moore again on this occasion.

Every young men's club in the city has been appealed to by Mr. Conway to support the meet and several have already promised that every member who can possibly attend will be there. The chamber of commerce, Lions and Rotary clubs, three organizations which supported the alumni association in its plans for a cinder track, are doing everything in their power to help along the race.

A meet such as this one, if held in the Harvard stadium would draw a capacity audience and it is hoped that Alumni field, which accommodates only 6000, will be filled when the first race is started at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Fight Against Communism

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 18.—(By the Associated Press.)—The "mass action" movement, "misunderstanding," William Mahoney of St. Paul, leader of the conservative faction in the National Farmer-Labor progressive convention declared at the convention convened today that delegates from South Dakota, Washington, Nebraska, Montana, and Minnesota, had assured him they "would be on their guard against a recurrence of yesterday's communist successes."

Mahoney was named as the Minnesota member of the national committee where he is determined to fight for his decentralized national organization plan. This movement is opposed by the communists who would have a highly centralized national party.

A Hathaway of St. Paul, who in the pre-convention committee helped the communists disrupt the national party, was named as the Minnesota caucus.

Millionaire's Son, 20, Elopes and Puts One Over on Dad

TOMMY LEAMAN, SON OF THE MILLIONAIRE, AND JULITA HOYT, HIS 16-YEAR-OLD BRIDE.

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
NEW YORK, June 18.—When Thomas P. Leaman, Sr., millionaire, drops the mud hook of his yacht in New York harbor, he is going to have the biggest surprise of his trip.

Instead of being greeted by only his 20-year-old son, Tommy, Jr., he will hear a little boy-haired miss sweetly chirp, "Daddy."

For Tommy, Jr., has forsaken his books and taken himself a bride, the 16-year-old Julia Hoyt, known as "Connecticut's most beautiful bud."

It all happened two weeks ago at a Norwalk, Conn., country club dance. Tommy met Julia, and Julia met Tommy. The world faded out for both of them. Elopement was the natural result.

MUCH OF $3,000,000 LOOT RECOVERED

CHICAGO, June 18.—Much of the $3,000,000 loot obtained in the holdup last Thursday night of a Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad mail car has been recovered, and Chicago policemen and postal inspectors expect to find an additional substantial quantity today.

Enough evidence has been obtained to justify charging the eight men who were arrested in connection with the hold-up with the robbery, and the three women as accessories, according to the police. Three other men are sought.

J. H. Wayne, one of the suspects, found with five bullet wounds and thought to have been shot during the holdup, was reported dying.

CHARGED WITH Larceny of Beer

ed at the police station, charged with the larceny of six cases of beer, valued at $450 each, from the warehouse of the Manchester and Concord Express Co., whose offices are located in a building adjoining the Boston and Maine freight-house.

Neighbors, attracted by the commotion in the railroad yards, excitedly telephoned the police that a break had been made in the freight-house. Officers responded and found Officer Simonds with the three suspects.

Federal Prohibition Agent Walter Sullivan also was called after quiet had been restored and tested the contents of the bottles. He found a high percentage of alcohol, but the question of ownership remained and still remains a mystery. Police inquiry at the express office today failed to throw any light on the subject, as employees there deny all knowledge of the beer even having been delivered. It was not the company's property, they say. It was removed to the police station.

In district court this morning, the three men were found probably guilty of breaking and entering in the night time, and the larceny of the six cases of beer. They were ordered to recognize in $500 each for their appearance in superior court.

Phone Heart Beats to Save Life

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
NEW YORK, June 18.—They are telephoning heartbeats now. And scientists say the results may be more wide reaching than even those of "talking" photographs.

For the stethoscope, the new electric stethoscope developed by engineers of the Western Electric company, is expected to throw new light on the treatment of heart disease, and the early detection of tuberculosis.

It makes possible the wholesale "listening-in" on the murmurs that mean so much in diagnosing heart and lung disease.

Five hundred physicians attending a medical convention in Chicago sat spell-bound as they heard together the regular "thump, thump" of a patient's heart, interspersed with the hissing sound of a leaky heart valve.

NEW HAVEN ARENA HELEN WILLS DEFEATED FRANK WILSON, B. C. GUTTED BY FIRE IN SINGLES MATCH STAR JOINS BRAVES

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 18.—The Arena, leased by the Yale hockey team and for skating during the winter and used for the first time this spring as a storage house and sales room for used automobiles, was completely gutted by fire early today. The old Hooker carriage factory in State street, part of the arena structure, and occupied by several manufacturing concerns, was also burned out and other nearby property threatened for a time.

The used car exchange in which a large number of local automobile dealers are interested suffered a loss of about 200 cars, which were stored in the arena auditorium. The loss is estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000.

BOULEVARD TO BE PATROLLED

Because of the increasing number of fatal and near-fatal automobile accidents on the Lowell-Lawrence boulevard, Supl. Atkinson intimated this morning that he is considering a plan to place a motorcycle officer on regular duty there during certain hours of the night. At present there are two motorcycle officers assigned to night duty. One of them patrols the Lowell-Andover highway at regular intervals, and it is the superintendent's idea to establish the same routine in First street.

the textiles, is planning any further curtailments at the present time. Recent reports from Linda, Georgia, where the Massachusetts has a modern textile plant producing its special lines, announced that manufacturing operations there were continuing on about a three-quarters capacity, so-called.

Exceptionally quiet conditions prevail today in American cotton goods primary markets. Wholesalers are doing a light business largely made up of orders in small packages. It is declared. Retailers in round numbers have been liquidating many of their stocks of reasonable fabrics at prices having no real relation to initial costs. Curtailment of production throughout the north this month. Reports of idleness in various mills are not as specific as in the case of New England mills, however, but large commission houses representing large groups of southern plants, say that between 30 and 35 per cent of southern machinery is idle or partially so.

There has been some indication of a higher supply of goods arising from continued mill curtailments, but the chief effect thus far has been seen in the firmness with which several large agencies are declining future business at current prices.

SENATE INVESTIGATORS

to Keep Continuous Check on Campaign Contributions and Expenditures

WASHINGTON, June 15.—The senate committee authorized to investigate campaign contributions and expenditures this year plans to establish headquarters in Chicago and to keep continuous check on these during the active period of the campaign when it will meet at the request of any of its five members.

After selecting Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, as chairman, the committee at an organization meeting yesterday decided to call on party campaign managers for reports every 15 days on expenditures and sources of funds, including the names of contributors.

Although the committee will be called together as soon as the campaign is actively under way, Chairman Borah said, it was unlikely there could be any occasion for public hearings before the latter part of August, by use of money in the campaign which the committee think should be required into, he said, should be investigated with a view to developing actual facts. Just how far the inquiry might be carried into the primaries, the chairman said, would be decided in a day or two.

AT THE THEATRES

RIALTO THEATRE

Rex (Snowy) Baker, hailed as the foremost "stunt king" in the films will be seen at the Rialto theatre Thursday in his very latest film sensation, "The Empire Builders." Baker is the star who made such a hit in "His Last Race" and "The White Panther." Of course, his justly famous horse, "Boomerang," is also in the picture.

Unquestionably the two greatest men of the last generation were Cecil Rhodes and our own Theodore Roosevelt. Each had in a wonderful degree the power of inspiring other men, of converting enemies into followers, of raising enthusiastic armies to fight in great causes. It is a pity they never met, a pity that the strenuous African adept on Malapoa Hill while the strenuous American was living proof of his greatness. Two hundred thousand square miles of fertile land redeemed from savagery, made in for white men to live upon, cleared, populated with cities and connected by railroads—what an achievement for one lone man! A character that would have delighted Rhodes the friend of Bullard in "The Empire Builders." Bullard, played by Snowy Baker, is one of the adventurous vanguard who first penetrated Rhodesia—his mission being to open the way for settlement by making a peace treaty with a fearless warrior, Karu, king of the Marungas. The picture's story is Bullard's victory of the perils and treacheries of the wild, the victory of civilization over savagery. His path is beset by misguided Boers, resentful natives, and even a well-meaning friend betrays him.

John Gilbert in "A Man's Mate," is the added feature and presents Gilbert in the role of an artist who meets an Apache girl in a Paris drinking place and falls in love with her.

The seventh round of H. C. Wittwer's "Fighting Blood" and a Fox News complete the picture program, but an added attraction has been secured that will be of interest to all, especially the children.

Chief Toma, full blooded Indian will appear at every performance in numerous examples of and will give an entertaining as well as educational talk on the customs of his people. He will also give a few war dances and Indian folk songs.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Thrown overboard in mid-ocean, along with a satchel full of United States bonds—left to drown in the Pacific while the bundle of awags, with automatic flare attached, is to be picked up by a rum runner—that was the trouble in which Johnnie Walker found himself in "The Mail Man." Emory Johnson's latest P. B. O. production which comes to the Merrimack Square theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

But the trouble had only started. The worst was yet to come. Johnnie hangs in the valuable papers which he has the mail clerk aboard the S.S. Enterprise, had been left to guard. The rum runner, seeing the flare, picks up the floating package and with it. To avoid a violent death, the boy pretends to be an accomplice in the crime and is congratulated by the conspirators for the daring robbery.

The Pacific fleet catches sight of the rum runner, plants a shot across their bow, and captures, not only the conspirators, but Johnnie as well, arresting him for robbery and murder!

How the unfortunate mail clerk gets out of the difficulty forms the basis of a gripping drama, which Emory Johnson, author of "The Third Alarm" and other Emory Johnson pictures, has developed in a truly masterful way.

Ralph Lewis plays the leading role of "The Mail Man," Johnnie's father, and a splendid supporting cast furnishes the twists the picture will be dedicated to them and to the postmaster.

The other attraction for the week-end is "The Grail" featuring Dustin Farnum in one of his typical, virile, adventure productions. A comedy and the latest International News will complete the bill.

Tonight final performances of "Men" starring Pola Negri, the great love actress of the screen, and "The Country Kid" with Wesley Barry, will be given.

AWARDS CONTRACTS FOR NEW COMFORT STATION

The park commission yesterday awarded the contract for construction of a comfort station and shower baths on North common to William Drapeau and the plumbing contract on the same job to Roche & Co. Both were the low bidders in their respective lines among the four builders and seven plumbers contesting.

The City Twilight League was given the use of the South common four nights a week after July 1 from which date the Lowell Twilight League will be assigned to First street oval. Supt. Kiernan informed the board that the municipal bathhouse on the boulevard will be opened tomorrow morning for the summer season.

The bids submitted for the comfort station construction: William Drapeau, tile, $7537, solid brick wall, $5902; Fred Meloy, tile, $3935, solid brick, $10,730; William J. Hurley, tile, $7540, solid brick, $5854; Daniel H. Walker, $9400.

The plumbing bids: Roche & Co., $2800; John E. Drury, $2395; Farrell & Co., $2554; J. J. Sullivan & Co., $2435; William H. McWhin, $2462; Quigley & Harrington, $2400, and J. T. McGuinness, $2626.

Two gas heaters, at $1370 for the pair, were ordered purchased from the Lowell Gas Light Co., this being the price quoted by that concern. They will be used to heat the water for the showers.

George A. Hill of the Hill company, appeared to offer radio service at the South common six nights a week, two hours each night, at from $45 to $60 a week. Prince-Cotter Co. offered similar loud speaker service for $20 a week and were directed to install a set for demonstration purposes with a view to acceptance of the offer if the results obtained are found acceptable.

Councillor Arthur B. Chadwick spoke favorably upon the acquisition of land adjacent to Morey school for playground purposes, but was unsuccessful in obtaining any action.

DESERVED RECOGNITION FOR MAIL CARRIERS

The Mail man, that ever faithful but seldom appreciated servant of the public, joyfully entered to his government and steadfast in his desire to give his best day in and day out, will come into his own in Lowell tomorrow evening when public tribute will be paid to the mail men of this city.

Early in the evening the members of the local post office carriers' force will meet at the post office in Gorham street and march in a body to the Merrimack Square theatre where they will be the guests of the management at the performance of Emory Johnson's notable screen play of the branch of governmental service, "The Mail Man."

Postmaster Xavier A. Delisle is co-operating with the theatre management in the affair and the demonstration should be a notable one. Mr. Delisle will attend the performance with the carriers and the production will be formally dedicated to him and his men. The general public will be invited to assist at the exercises.

When one considers what tremendous drama is contained in the thin little envelopes the mail man delivers to hundreds of thousands of homes throughout the nation, one will readily understand what is meant when it is said that the mail man is the most dramatic of all public workers.

He is the bearer of good tidings and ill, of joy and disaster. His hair carries news of all descriptions, news that sets great business organizations in motion, that brings others to a tragic end. He is himself a part of more real life dramas than were ever devised for the stages of this or any other country. He has a heart of gold and a spirit that is indomitable—a spirit that has made the postal department of the United States one of the most efficient organizations in the world today.

"The Mail Man" strives to tell a few simple truths and in doing so, the mail workers of the nation in the right light so that the public may know them as they are.

Secretary of State Pays Tribute to Nation's Chief at Amherst

Says Coolidge "Most Notable Contribution to Our National Life"

AMHERST, June 18.—Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes, who received the degree of doctor of laws at the Amherst commencement today, paid an academic address with a tribute to "the most notable contribution of Amherst to our national life—Calvin Coolidge, 1857."

The secretary, who is a Brown man, mentioned various Amherst alumni with whom he had been associated in public and private life, and proceeded:

"And there is our chief, than whom there is no better example of the integrity, the self-control and unflinching discipline which commands confidence and enables leadership, the most notable contribution of Amherst to our national life, Calvin Coolidge of 1857."

Expressing wonder whether the college of today is being swamped in too many activities, the secretary said the greatest need of the day is cultivated understanding, and added that in no part of our activities is understanding so difficult, as in foreign affairs.

For example, he added, our relations with Latin-America were never better than today, despite the efforts of those in other countries who endeavor to foster an unfriendly sentiment toward us.

"Yet there are writers among us," he added, "who apparently make it their business to develop antagonism and to spread among the people of this country, who have an opportunity for judgment from personal knowledge the notion that our policies are imperialistic, that our influence is baleful and that mutual respect and friendship are decreasing."

"There are those among us who try to make it appear that this government is the agency of international bankers and concession hunters. What grotesque perversion it is!"

The secretary noted that the false statement is being repeated and the position of this government at Lausanne was determined by the Chester conviction.

"This government made no barrier of its right for this or any other concession," he added.

Referring to what he said were as serious of some business men that if the United States backed up more actively American enterprises abroad they would have greater success, he said:

"I see no indication of any relative failure of our legitimate business interests abroad. They seem to be doing pretty well."

"We seek a sincere deal for our nationals throughout the world and we uphold their rights. Having the freedom and opportunity to which they are entitled, they make their own contracts according to their own conception of their interests. This government does not take part in such transactions and place no favorites."

"We have asked and have received information as to foreign loans to the end that proper enterprises should be shranked or that this government should assume any responsibility for the making or securing of loans, but that we might at least have the opportunity of a hearing."

Disapproval of loans for unproductive enterprises and especially of loans sought to build up armaments and facilitate military expenditures abroad.

Describing great progress in international adjustments, Mr. Hughes said:

"In the last three years we have signed 55 international treaties and agreements. Of these, four did not require submission to the senate. Of the remaining, 53 have been sent to the senate and these 47 have been approved. The remaining six have not

N. T. Borden Addresses Lowell Ad Club
wide extension, due to the generosity of Millionaire George F. Baker.

Mr. Borden briefly traced the history of advertising from "the public squares to the present day." He believed that advertising should not spend money lavishly when ignorant of results. He explained the town-crier advertising methods of olden days, then pictured some modern methods of distributing the world's goods "by the printed word." He emphasized "economical" advertising, and declared that all advertising campaigns need strict attention at all times to "value."

The speaker gave meaty explanations to questions covering such problems as how best to use "the printed page," how much space should be used in stipulated advertising campaigns, where such space should be distributed, and when, etc. He praised advertising campaigns of the modern day, for the most part, and told of its remarkable growth as a business-basis.

Mr. Borden closed by saying that the fundamental need of American business today is to "get down to the facts" in the heart of the retail business.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 18.—Conflicting price movements marked the opening of today's stock market, as numerous shares, notably the oils, offered poor prices. The market, however, closed with a gain of 1 1/2 points.

Accumulation of oil shares was resumed, Schulte advancing sharply. With oil shares continuing to display marked sensitiveness to unsettled trade conditions and with support lacking for some minor and accessory shares, prices developed a healthy tone after opening orders had been disposed of. Several low-priced rails yielded sharply, including St. Louis & Southwestern, Chicago & North Western, and Erie.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride, Princeton boulevard, North Chelmsford, at which were present a large number of friends of the couple from the Chelmsfords, Lowell, Hartford, New York, and other places. The bride and groom were accompanied by the bridesmaids and groomsmen.

The couple will leave on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Atlantic City and New York, after which they will make their home in Altoona, Pa., where Mr. Sullivan is engaged in the construction business.

DROWNED IN SIGHT OF HUNDREDS ON BEACH
BOSTON, June 18.—Murray Saunders, 13, of 48 Crane road, Quincy, was drowned in the sight of hundreds on the beach of the Adams shore section near his home yesterday, when he jumped from a rowboat, containing two other companions, intending to wash ashore.

Saunders with Miss Martha Dowling and Miss Pauline Campbell, both of 522 Sea street, had been boating back from a motor boat they had just anchored. When they came within a few yards of the shore Saunders stood up in the boat and tried to touch bottom with an oar.

It is believed the oar struck a sand bar or rock and threw him overboard. He was seen to splash in the water. "That's not deep," he said, "I'm going to walk the rest of the way."

Jumping over the side of the boat, Saunders, who was clad in his bathing suit, disappeared over his head. Miss Dowling and Miss Campbell thought he was attempting to play a joke, when he failed to reappear immediately. However, when he continued to remain under the water for more than a minute they became frightened and shouted to companions on the shore.

LYNN, June 18.—Lynn shoe workers are participating in a newspaper referendum conducted by Rev. Chester J. Underhill, pastor of the Washington Street Baptist church for the purpose of indicating by secret ballot, their desire as to what union, if any, shall control the shoe labor situation in Lynn.

Referendum ballots printed in the local papers Monday and today must be in the postoffice not later than midnight Thursday, and at 9 o'clock Friday forenoon, under police guard, Edward L. O'Brien of the Lynn police court, will commence checking off the names on the ballots and making the official count.

RAP MacDONALD FOR BLUNDER

Premier and His Ministerial
Colleagues Attacked by
Anti-Government Press

Charged With Adopting
Amazingly Offensive Atti-
tude Toward Mussolini

LONDON, June 18.—(By the Associated Press) Premier MacDonald and his ministerial colleagues are charged by the anti-government press and parliamentarians with adopting an amazingly offensive attitude toward the Mussolini government in Italy by at least tacit approval of a condemnatory resolution passed yesterday at a meeting of the British labor party at which Mr. MacDonald and some of the other ministers were present.

The resolution, after recording the party's profound detestation of the kidnapping of the socialist deputy, Matteotti, sends "warm sympathy and hearty support to the socialist party of Italy in its struggle against the forces that are trampling upon the fundamental principles of liberty and democracy."

It is not clear whether Premier MacDonald and his colleagues voted for the resolution but it is stated that they did not cast their ballots against it. Apologists for the government say the resolution merely expresses the attitude of the labor party and does not commit the administration.

The government, however, contend that this is not likely to have weight in Italy, where offense is inevitable. They term it an unimpeachable blunder in the light of Mr. MacDonald's known desire for friendly relations with the European powers with a view to settlement of the reparations problem.

It is understood that the incident will be aired in the house of commons.

HAVERHILL MEN HELD FOR FEDERAL COURT

John Sawinow and Charles Walsen of Haverhill were ordered held for the federal court after a hearing before U. S. Commissioner R. B. Walsh at the Gorham street court house this morning on a charge of illegal sale.

Sawinow, who is the alleged proprietor of a near-beer saloon at 102 River street, Haverhill, and Walsen, alleged clerk in this establishment, were arrested early in April by Federal Agents Walter Sullivan, John Hall, Frederick Tremblay and Walter Smith. The federal agents this morning testified to purchasing two drinks of what was termed "alcohol-split" in this establishment.

Atty. Priest appeared for the defendants and cross-examined the arresting officers at length. The defendants were on bail and this last was deemed sufficient by the commissioner with their arraignment in the federal court in Boston.

Pays City Flying Visit

commission is on a brief tour of a portion of the Boston & Maine railroad. The itinerary this morning called for departure from Boston at 9.30, arrival in Lowell 10.15, thence via the Stony Brook line to Clinton Junction and back to the Hub via the old but still useful "Massachusetts Central," which runs from Northampton to Boston via Clinton, Sudbury, Waltham and Boston.

The ramble of the commissioners this morning was heralded to local railroad executives handling train orders, only a few days ago. The visit selected a better day or a better route, when the party in the observation coach on the rear platform and wondered what was doing.

If the public utility is seeking information on the one-line route of ancient construction which passenger traffic today is all they could not have selected a better day or a better route, when the party in the observation coach on the rear platform and wondered what was doing.

The Massachusetts Central passenger and freight traffic is unprofitable today, with train service curtailed to the bone. Stony Brook line is used extensively for freight cross-country, but the passenger service is poor. Railroad men can see where the old "Mass. Cent." might be discontinued, but not the good old Stony Brook where more than half the freight out of Lowell goes for the Central Massachusetts and western states receiving stations.

LOWELL MAN ELECTED TO STATE OFFICE

The state convention of the Massachusetts State Aeris, Fraternal Order of Eagles, concluded yesterday in Fall River, the local delegates arriving home today. John J. O'Leary of Lowell, was elected to succeed William Mackey of North Adams, as state president. There were 230 delegates voting and only two contests for state office marked the balloting. John H. Hogan was chosen chaplain over William H. Gallagher of Revere and Louis F. Hoffman of Pittsfield, defeated Harold H. Powers of Fall River for outside guard.

Thomas F. Quinn, worthy president of Lowell Aeris, served on the committee on resolutions and laws. The convention opened Monday and greetings were extended by Simon S. Sullivan, president of Fall River Aeris, and Mayor Edmund P. Talbot. The choice of the 1925 convention city was left in the hands of the newly elected state officers. Howard N. Ragland, grand worthy president, came from Cincinnati to address the banquet, which was one of the features of the convention. The delegates from Lowell Aeris were: Worthy President Thomas F. Quinn, Joseph Hughes, John B. O'Loughlin and Peter F. Brady.

Boom Walsh for Chairman

talk of the McAdoo leaders would be pleased if the convention should adopt a rule providing for the nomination of a candidate by a majority vote. On the other hand, the followers of Gov. Smith, as well as the sponsors of action, seem bent on doing all in their power to have the two-thirds rule retained.

A boom for David F. Houston, former secretary of the treasury and secretary of agriculture, has been started by Circuit Judge Ewing Cockrell of Warrensburg, Mo., a son of the late United States Senator Cockrell.

Headquarters for former Gov. James M. Cox, John W. Davis, Senator Underwood and Gov. Smith will be opened today at the Waldorf-Astoria, where the national democratic committee has its headquarters.

Crowd Greets McAdoo

WASHINGTON, June 18.—William G. McAdoo, candidate for the vice-presidential nomination, passed through Washington early today en route from Los Angeles to New York. He was greeted by a cheering crowd at the Union station, both upon his arrival and his departure.

While at the station, Mr. McAdoo was presented with a washbasin by a train from Maryland, and to Washington with signatures of 15,000 railway employees. E. C. Davidson, secretary of the International Association of Machinists, made the presentation, saying:

"It's from California to the White House."

"All right, that train order shall be carried out," the candidate replied.

COX HEADQUARTERS OPENED IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, June 18.—A staff of helpers for the candidacy of James M. Cox of Ohio for president set up headquarters in New York yesterday. Joel Shamp, a veteran political manager of Dayton, O., is generalissimo of the Cox forces, and Charles E. Norris, Washington representative of the Cox newspapers, is chief of staff. Accompanied by a corps of enthusiastic aides, they pitched camp at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, which also is headquarters for the national democratic committee.

The convention would prove popular and that Madison Square garden's 14,000 seats would be filled to overflowing was indicated yesterday in arrival of an avalanche of demands for accommodations, which temporarily disrupted the business of the national committee's sub-committee on arrangements. Coriell Hull, chairman of that body, finally shut himself and his co-workers away from telegrams and long distance telephone calls, barred the doors to all callers, and declared they would remain in executive session until disposition had been made of last-minute details of pre-convention arrangements.

In the meantime, the last of 35th flags was unfurled in Madison Square Garden, the last row of seats

HANIHARA HOPES U. S. AND JAPAN WILL REMAIN FRIENDS

Ambassador Delivers Address at Brown University—Says Friendship Will Survive if Two Nations Remain True to Traditions of Pact

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 18.—Japan, in its dealings with the United States, has always believed that as between friends there is no question that cannot be adjusted amicably. Ambassador Hanihara of Japan declared today in an address at Brown university, where he received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

"Such unique and precious history," Hanihara said, "the one of friendship in the minds of my people now is: Is it the true sentiment of the American people to make light of its friendship with the people of Japan, a friendship which has been built up by hard, conventional labors of the two peoples extending over nearly three quarters of a century, not only to the good of themselves alone, but for the good of the rest of mankind?"

The Japanese ambassador sketched the history of the relations of the two nations, from when Commodore Perry set foot on the shore of Japan to the signing of the Washington conference treaties. He refrained from any specific mention of the immigration, with its Japanese exclusion controversy.

After thanking Brown university and the people of Rhode Island for the compliment bestowed upon him, which, he said, was an assurance of good will and friendship, the ambassador began at once his outline of the long friendship between the two countries. "And I may express the hope," he said, "that that friendship may survive. Aye! It will survive if we remain true to our worthy traditions of the past, which is an embodiment of that great human spirit of mutual toleration and esteem."

At another point, after relating Japan's efforts to become a bulwark of peace in the Far East he said: "We Japanese have tried to become a great nation not only in the attainment of strength sufficient to defend ourselves and protect our weaker neighbors from dangerous aggression, but also we have striven to be great because we are anxious to serve the cause of humanity. We have been sincerely and to serve with the great nations of the west and we shall continue to serve as long as those nations will permit us to do so."

Owe American Debt of Gratitude

He paid high tribute to the army which was pinned in place, and the last star was pinned to the acre-and-a-half of red, white and sky-blue background under which the gavel opening the convention will sound next Tuesday.

Herbert C. Pell, Jr., chairman of the democratic state committee, announced that the New York delegation would elect a chairman at the hotel Commodore next Saturday. It also was announced that the democratic national committee would hold its first pre-convention session Saturday morning. Leaders declared the committee might at that time indicate its attitude toward the prospect of a fight on the convention floor over the proposed inauguration of majority rule.

Although many early comers declared they had discovered a rift among McAdoo supporters on the majority rule issue, campaigners at this candidate's headquarters continued to declare the question would come to a vote, and that backed by the precedent set by the San Francisco convention in adopting the procedure of the house of representatives. McAdoo would "win hands down."

The answer of Governor Smith and Franklin D. Roosevelt, his manager, was that delegates in 1920, after having nominated Cox by a majority, continued to ballot until he had a two-thirds vote. But, although they discussed the question, the Smith faction professed to be little interested in majority rule talk.

They declared that David Ladd Rockwell, the McAdoo chief, was "just building himself a little straw man."

Thus far there has been almost no discussion of potential candidates for the vice-presidential nomination. The prevailing attitude was pictured in a conversation among delegates at the national headquarters today.

"The republicans have done," said a visitor from the mid-west. "Why couldn't we run Owen D. Young, a good democrat and Dawes' right-hand man on the reparations commission?"

Another delegate from the east stood up in the hurry. "Young for vice president?" he asked. "What's the matter with Young for president?"
